Dancers Waltz and Two-Step for 15 Hours, Breaking All Records.

MERCILESS CROWD HOOT WHEN WOMEN COLLAPSE

"Dance to Death," Says the Physician, if Halt Had Not Been Called.

Dance for Fifteen Hours
Five Couples in Finish

Old and new Marathon dance record and the couples who finished in last contest:

Former record: 14 hours 43 minutes.

Present record: 15 hours 3 minutes.

WINNERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hartman, 1004 Golden Gate avenue.

Miss M. Simmons, 1929 California street, and J. F. Rankin, 1031 Fillmore street.

Florence Burns, 2467 Harrison street, and C. David Oman, Harrison and Twenty-first streets.

Pearl Orand, 61 Eureka street, and Fred Banducci, 1600 Hyde street.

Eva Welch, 1009 Geary street, and J. A. West, 874 Valencia street.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—After having waltzed and two-stepped continuously for fifteen hours and three minutes in the Dreamland Pavilion, five out of the seven couples entered for the contest of the Marathon waltz who still remained on the floor were forced by the police to discontinue their unequal struggle with nature at three minutes past 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Interference by the police nearly caused a riot, for the merciless throng who had gathered to witness the affair were insistent that the contestants be allowed to continue until one by one they dropped from sheer exhaustion.

When finally they had left the pavilion nearly every one of them suffered from a nervous breakdown, the relief from the strain, both physical and mental, under which they had labored for more than half a day was great.

More than human nature could stand and physicians had to be called in attendance in nearly every case.

When at last the music of the unrelenting orchestra had ceased hysteria took possession of the women who had participated and cheers gave way to jeers on the part of the onlookers, numbers of whom had followed the gilders throughout the whole exhibition.

DANCE TO DEATH.

"It would have been a dance to death instead of a finish," said Corporal of Police Van Kueen, "had I not stopped them."

Dr. M. B. Moquin, who had been engaged by the promoters, stated that the couples might have continued for at least three hours longer, but it was upon his advice that the police called a halt.

Mrs. Ethel Hartman, one of the contestants, pleaded with the police between sobs to be allowed to continue.

Miss M. Simmons collapsed when she reached her dressing room, and Miss Florence Burns could not leave the pavilion until she had been massaged and rested. The men stood the ordeal a trifle better, but all of them were hollow-eyed and showed unmistakable effects of the contest. Two or three of them, in fact, will have to hobble around with canes for another week.

Visitors Dined by The Sunset Rebekahs

At the regular weekly meeting of Sun-set Rebekah Lodge No. 10, held in Unity Hall, West Oakland, Friday evening, there were a number of visitors from neighboring lodges, and it being brothers' night to entertain, the members made a sumptuous repast following the meeting.

The chairman of the attraction committee, Sister Scott, was appointed chairman of the reception committee for the entertainment of D. D. P. Sister Pruitt.

MAYOR MOTT'S DECLARATION THAT HE WILL FIGHT FOR BROTHER BRINGS HIM FRIENDS

Eden Township Residents Want the Public Administratorship; Curry's Manager Claims the South--Johnson Back From Tour and Confident of Success

The county campaign is now fairly under way with the petitions of nearly all the candidates in the field. The Democrats as well as the Republicans will have candidates on the ticket this fall because under the new primary law any Democrat can go on the ballot. The county officers are not much disturbed over the cry of the league for changes in various offices, but on the contrary they are pursuing the even tenor of their way and do not expect much real opposition at the primaries. During the past four years the government of Alameda county has been good, changes in two offices, that of Public Administrator and County Auditor, being made for the good of the service. All the other offices have been thoroughly investigated by grand jury experts every year for the past four years and they have all been found to be in excellent condition.

It is now certain that Mayor Mott will be found taking a lively interest in the county ticket because of the fact that some of his warm political supporters have declared that his brother, John W. Mott, shall not be re-elected Recorder. Everybody knows that without Mayor Mott's great city machine the league practically has no organization. The Mayor has one of the best political organizations in the county, for the men he has around him in the city hall offices are known to be extremely loyal to him at election time and besides they are good workers and understand politics.

The entire city machine will be thrown behind Recorder Mott and it is pretty certain with this backing he will easily win.

MEHRMANN'S POSITION.

The claim is being made that the Public Administratorship now held by Dr. H. B. Mehrmann of the Second ward rightfully belongs to the country.

White freely concedes that Hiram W. Johnson, the Lincoln-Roosevelt league candidate for governor, will carry Los Angeles county, with Curry second, Stanton third and Anderson fourth.

For Curry, White also claims San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and something better than a fighting chance to hold Orange county. In San Diego county, according to White, Johnson will run a bad second to Curry, while neither Anderson nor Stanton will make even a good showing.

SOUTH MUST CHOOSE.

Word was telephoned to Los Angeles yesterday that the executive committee of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League was satisfied to put Judge Wilbur on the ballot for Supreme Justice with Judge Sloane, but it was up to the south to make the choice.

FRANCIS IS BACKWARD.

It is the desire of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League to run Principal Francis of the Polytechnic High School of Los Angeles for Superintendent of Public Instruction, but Mr. Francis seems backward about going into the race.

SACRAMENTO ENTERS FIGHT.

Alexander Gordon, vice-president of the Sacramento Savings Bank, has accepted the league endorsement for Railroad Commissioner, the most important office.

He will make the fight for the Republican nomination against A. C. Irwin of Marysville, incumbent commissioner. Mr. Gordon, who is 60 years of age, intends to retire from banking in June.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER.

There is some talk of including Colonel Loveland for the second railroad district, but some opposition exists to him.

Assemblyman John M. Eschleman of Alameda, now president of Imperial county, will probably be the league's choice for Railroad Commission against Theodore Summerland.

BILLS OUT FOR ANDERSON.

Senator Charles B. Bills of Sacramento, who has been spoken of as a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, was in San Francisco yesterday on his way home to Sacramento. He says his aid, Alden Anderson, for Governor and consequently not a candidate for the second place on the ticket. Bills says that when he came through Los Angeles the candidacy of Stanton did not seem to be taken seriously, but admits he heard a good deal of Curry talk.

PRIMARY VOTE 40,000.

I believe that the Republican primary vote of Los Angeles county may be estimated conservatively at 40,000, we now have over 700 signatures to his nominating affidavits. We have been working steadily at our organization for months and we are still working.

CURRY PETITIONS LEAD.

At the Registrar's office in San Francisco it was reported that Curry was a little in the lead in getting signatures on his petitions; that Morrow and Jordan were running a close race for Secretary of State, and that Shannon was leading Phillips for State Printer.

HARDY IN CURRY FIGHT.

Charlie Hardy, the San Diego political boss and organization manager, is said to be in the Curry fight. Now John D. Spreckels will try to hold him in that fight, and the organization will try to pull him out.

JOHNSON CONFIDENT.

Hiram W. Johnson has returned from the south.

"My trip," Johnson said last night, "was a revelation. Every place I visited the reception accorded me was most gratifying. One of the most gratifying things I observed was that the abject fear of the Southern Pacific, so prevalent in some business communities of the state, was totally absent in the business communities of the south.

"In San Diego county I held five meetings outside of San Diego city, in small places widely separated. And in each place I met with the same cordial and enthusiastic reception. I am absolutely confident that I will carry the southland. Voters there realize that for the first time they have the weapon, in the direct primary, by which they can defeat and eliminate the political boss and the machine. And they are going to do it."

"Phil Stanton is the only candidate for Governor whose residence is in the south, and, naturally, he has some local strength. But the people of the south are broad minded and patriotic and no consideration of local pride will blind them to the paramount issue of this fight. They will be against Herrin and his machine and standing with the Lincoln-Roosevelt League in its effort to return the government of California to the people."

GILLET ON CANNON.

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—Governor James N. Gillett of California gave out the following statement tonight, purporting to show his views of the recent downfall of Cannonism:

"I don't understand that the resolution adopted by the Democrats of the House with the aid of a few insurgent Republicans is a 'downfall of Cannonism,' so-called.

"It merely changes the rule so that the power of the majority shall be lodged in six members, of which the Speaker shall not be one, instead of three members of which the Speaker is one.

"Under the old system the best laws ever passed by Congress have been enacted and much dangerous legislation blocked, most of it occurring while Mr. Cannon has been speaker.

"President Roosevelt, in a letter addressed to Representative James E. Watson of Indiana, says:

"With Mr. Cannon as Speaker, the House has accomplished a literally phenomenal amount of good work. It has shown a courage, a good sense and patriotism such that it would be a real and serious misfortune for the country to fail to recognize it."

"I hope that better results will follow this change, but I doubt it. Much will depend upon the personnel of the committee, still nothing will ever change the hostile attitude of the minority or satisfy some member who does not receive the committee appointment he seeks or recognition of some pet legislation of his own."

LEAGUE ENDORSEMENT.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican League, at the headquarters of the organization in San Francisco Saturday, the following endorsements for nominees on the State Republican ticket at the forthcoming primaries were unanimously made:

For Lieutenant-Governor—A. J. Wallace.

For United States Senator—Judge John D. Works of Los Angeles.

For member of State Board of Railroad Commissioners from First district—Alex Gordon of Sacramento.

The counties in the commission district in which Gordon is to run are Alpine, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Glenn, Humboldt, Lake, Lassen, Mendocino, Modoc, Napa, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Solano, Sonoma, Butte, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo and Yuba.

CURRY CLAIMS SOUTH.

Dongers White, manager of the Curry campaign in Los Angeles county, is in San Francisco.

White freely concedes that Hiram W. Johnson, the Lincoln-Roosevelt league candidate for governor, will carry Los Angeles county, with Curry second, Stanton third and Anderson fourth.

For Curry, White also claims San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and something better than a fighting chance to hold Orange county. In San Diego county, according to White, Johnson will run a bad second to Curry, while neither Anderson nor Stanton will make even a good showing.

JUDGE LENNON ENDORSED.

The Building Trades Council of Marin county met in San Rafael and passed the following resolution endorsing the nomination of Superior Judge Thomas J. Lennon for presiding Judge of the Court of Appeals:

"Whereas, Thomas J. Lennon, judge of the Superior Court of Marin county, has at all times displayed the highest standard of integrity and manhood, and that competency and broad-mindedness are rarely found among men; therefore,

"Resolved, That the Building Trades Council of Marin county, at regular session assembled, does hereby endorse and urge the nomination and election of Judge Thomas J. Lennon to the office of Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeals."

J. V. COLEMAN FOR GOVERNOR.

The Democratic county committee of Alameda county recently elected thirty-nine delegates to the conference to be held in San Francisco April 10-11. Nothing was said or done at the session to indicate the preference of the Alameda delegates on the gubernatorial, Robert M. Fitzgerald, one of the delegates, said yesterday:

POOLROOM FAKIRS UNDONE BY THEIR CELLMATE

Sausalito Detective Is Feasted by Them While Seeking Evidence.

FURNISHES SHERIFF WITH IMPORTANT FACTS

Soldier Deserts After Making a Big Haul at Gambling Rooms.

SAN RAFAEL, March 21.—Discovering too late that they were buying chicken dinners for a "spotter" who was locked up in a cell with them in the county jail here, the Sausalito fake pool room men unearthed a clever plot by which Sheriff Taylor and District Attorney Boyd have secured much valuable information against the gamblers, and Saturday noon when the meals arrived at the jail the detectives received only the regular prison fare instead of an especially prepared meal.

The sheriff arrested the fake pool-room men at Sausalito a week ago Monday. P. C. Paulson was one of them. Paulson, it now develops, was a detective in the employ of the State. He approached William Weede, one of the gang and was "steered" into the pool-room, where he was taken from when the raid came off. He was taken to jail and arraigned in the police court and was placed in a cell with the other men captured.

FEASTED "SPOTTER."

Since the men have been confined in the county jail they have been served with special meals for which the leaders paid for. Not until today did the men discover that they were buying chicken for a "spotter." Paulson informed Sheriff Taylor that he was discovered and was then released on his own recognizance by Justice Maggs. However the sheriff gained considerable information through Paulson.

Today civil and military authorities joined forces to investigate the poolroom case, when it was discovered by Sheriff Taylor and District Attorney Boyd that the soldiers of Fort Baker had played poker in James Blair's saloon within a few days of the time when the place was raided. It indicates that the gambling place was not devoted alone to fake pool-room, nor quite as secret as it is said to have been by Sausalito officials.

A SOLDIER WON.

According to Major John W. Buckman, Private Bower of the Sixty-eighth Company, Coast Artillery, deserted a few days before the raid took place. It has been learned that one soldier won $300 in Blair's saloon and then deserted from the army. It is thought that Private Bower who deserted is the man who won the $300. Other soldiers are reported to have lost heavily in the place, and an effort will be made to secure their testimony in the trial of the buncos men next week.

Major Buckman had the following to say regarding the visits made by the soldiers: "Indirectly I have heard about the matter, but I do not know the names of the men who visited the place. I will gladly add Sheriff Taylor in the investigation so far as it is in my power."

"If the soldiers at Fort Baker knew of this place existing and frequented the place, and the authorities 'how is it Sausalito citizens were ignorant of its presence'."

Building Bee Insults God, Priest Declares

SAN RAFAEL, March 21.—As the result of Father Robert Seamon, formerly of Oakland, denouncing the Sabbath labor as being an "insult to God and the laws of the church," the road building bee which was to have taken place here under the auspices of the local Promotion and Improvement Club, was not held yesterday. Father Seamon also charges that politics is behind the various Sunday street repairing bees.

"Every other commandment has been broken and Father Seamon, and others, want to break the tenth commandment. It is the gall of play. Politics is at the root of the work. What has become of the road fund? Why should citizens pay taxes and then be compelled to repair streets? There is no dignity in these men in position and society women getting out and working on the streets on Sunday."

CITY AUDITORIUMS ARE PAYING PROJECTS

PLEASANTON'S NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL

A Handsome Reinforced Concrete Ten-class Room Mission Structure.

Committee Receives Favoring Reports From Leading Centers.

DES MOINES HAS GREAT MEETING HALL

Data Goes to Show Oakland Will Gain by Such a Structure.

Replies to the various requests which came in, if L. Urban of the auditorium committee can get are now coming in, and in each instance the figures as to anticipated cost and building of the character with it is proposed to construct in Oakland prove very favorable, so that the propositions have been paying investments.

The Progress and Prosperity Committee, backed by the most influential property interests of the city, is working hard to see that for Oakland the accommodations necessary for taking care of gatherings such as would be attracted here by every favorable condition which can be found elsewhere.

DES MOINES SENDS PLANS.

From Des Moines, Iowa, a city of approximately 100,000, which is in its magnificence, comes word that the city is paying its way by using the motto, "We are building a city here!" pictures and details have been received of what is known as the New Coliseum, with a seating capacity of 12,000 persons. It is said, with what are said to be the best accuracy, that the building is the best building in the world. It embraces many of the features which it is proposed to embody in the new auditoriums, among them being the provision for individual committee rooms, one of them 6x140 feet, which is said to be in constant use.

The auditorium is to be a three-story, non-combined building, having been erected under the auspices of the Des Moines Commercial Club, the municipality helped in its formation, and public subscription and the city being equal partners.

Des Moines has hitched its wagon to a star, inasmuch as it is progressing with the definite fixed purpose of having a fine auditorium by 1910. Fortunately, therefore, Oakland can well afford to sanction an issuance of $600,000 worth of bonds for such a building, which must be erected, not only for the present, but for a population of what is practically now 400,000, but for the future, when we shall be approaching the million mark.

Bridge Work Is Nearly Completed

ALAMEDA, March 21.—The replanking of the Fish Island, which was to be completed within a week, will be completed within a week.

Councilman F. L. Krumb stated today that the repair work on the bridge was progressing rapidly. The approaches to the bridge have also been improved.

Best Prescription For Kidney Troubles

Of all medicines and mixtures for the kidneys, liver or bladder, the one given below is the strongest and the best, than any other. Mix together half a pound of pine gin with one-half ounce fluid extract buchu, then add one-half ounce camphor oil. Mix these well together and take in doses of one to two drams three times a day after each meal. The ingredients can be had of any good druggist.

The above prescription quickly and permanently cures lame backs, rheumatic pains in the joints, fiery burning urination, frequent or burning urination, dizziness, pains in the head, all of which are well known signs of trouble in the kidneys and other urinary organs.

Councilman F. L. Krumb is the secretary of the East End Improvement Club and one of its most active workers.

Death and Injury Mar Sunday in Oakland

Gus Souravis, Run Down by a West Berkeley Train and Dies at Hospital.

Switchman Loses Foot Under Engine's Wheels

Street Cars Add Four Victims to the Long List of Those Hurt.

One Fatality and half a dozen serious accidents, together with as many more trivial mishaps was Sunday's record at the Receiving Hospital.

The dead victim was Gus Souravis, a laborer in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company. While crossing the company's tracks about noon, near Orbin station, Berkeley, he was run down by the West Berkeley local and his forehead so badly crushed that the victim peeled out of both eyes.

Souravis was brought to the city on the train and transferred to the Receiving Hospital from the First Street Depot.

In the hope of saving his life Chief Surgeon O. D. Hamlin performed a surgical operation upon the shattered skull, but after undergoing until 4 o'clock this morning Souravis died. He never recovered consciousness after the train struck him. He was a middle-aged man and unmarried. His body is at the morgue.

GI. Moniz, a Southern Pacific switchman, residing at 1440 Fifth street, was caught between a freight car and an engine yesterday morning at Melrose station, his left foot being so badly crushed by the locomotive passing over it that it was found necessary at the Receiving Hospital to amputate just above the ankle. Moniz is twenty-eight years of age and has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company for several years.

While attempting to regulate the gas generator on his locomotive yesterday morning J. T. Sullivan, twenty-seven years of age, an engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company, was badly burned about the face and head when the generator exploded, the flames enveloping him. Sullivan was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where his burns were dressed.

R. Brown of Elmhurst was struck by an electric car last night at the corner of Thirteenth street and Broadway and was taken to the Receiving Hospital suffering from severe shock, but otherwise uninjured. That he escaped serious injury is a miracle, according to those who witnessed the accident.

Two Fall from Cars.

Two old women fell from electric cars and suffered severe injuries of the head. Mrs. E. Molton, 74 years old, residing at 2433 Haste street, Berkeley, lost her balance and fell from a College avenue car moving at high speed at 7 o'clock, sustaining a painful fracture of the skull. Mrs. Lester, 52 years old, also residing at 1130 East Twelfth street, was precipitated from a car at the corner of Thirteenth street and Broadway, about 8 o'clock and struck the pavement upon her head. Her scalp was badly lacerated.

Robert Thiebley, 50 years of age, residing at 836 Thirty-fourth street, fell from a car last night on San Pablo avenue, striking on his head. His scalp was cut in several places and he sustained a fracture of the left arm. He was treated by Dr. Surgeon Hamlin at the Receiving Hospital.

J. H. Sheridan, a horseman, residing in Williams street, was kicked in the head by his horse and knocked unconscious. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where a scalp wound was treated.

Crack Shots Gather At Schuetzen Festival

SAN RAFAEL, March 21.—Despite the unsettled weather more than one hundred members of the California Schuetzen Club assembled at Schuetzen Park here yesterday and participated in the first shooting festival held by the organization this year.

The marksmen were busily engaged all morning shooting at targets and at noon repaired to the banquet hall, where a repast was served. The celebrated Spanish orchestra of Ritzans furnished music and toasts were made by ex-Superior Judge George H. Bahrs, president of the San Francisco Schuetzen Club, and William Ehrenport, the oldest member of the organization, who is 83 years of age. Three members of the Santa Cruz Mountain Club were also present, as were a number of members of the Palo Alto Shooting Club.

TWO HOMES ROBBED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Burglars were busy Saturday night. The residence of Mrs. Rose Atherton, 1415-B Stockton street, was broken into and jewelry and money valued at $150 stolen. The house of Mrs. Harriet Cronon, 4201 Polson street, was also entered and $5 in gold concealed in a clothes closet carried off.

MOTT IS FIRM.

"Well, the fact is Mr. Foss," tartly retorted Mott, "I am county recorder and am supposed to know what I want and am doing the best I can for the county. If it could be done in any other way I would not be here asking for additional help. It is not good policy, in my judgment, for county officers to be dependent upon individuals employed by private persons for public records and he therefore asked that he be given two additional clerks to do the work."

Supervisor Foss declared he did not see why the work could not be done without requiring additional help.

Supervisor Foss declared he did not see why the work could not be done without requiring additional help.

A bald headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Almost 65 per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that under no consideration will we claim it will, and given satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We want every one suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, baldness, to try our Rexall "91" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly, say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here where you live, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer except that we are certain that we can make it a success.

Rexall "91" Hair Tonic comes in two sizes, 30 and 60 drams, $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Oakland only at our store—The Rexall Store—1015 13th and Broadway, 16th and San Pablo avenue.

German Windjammer Makes Quick Voyage

SAN DIEGO, March 21.—The Hera, a big German windjammer, has reached port 122 days out from Newcastle-on-Tyne with 3000 tons of coke and pig iron for a local firm. Foggy weather prevented the Hera from making a record trip.

RAINFALL RECORD.

The weather bureau reports the rainfall for the past 24 hours to measure .43 of an inch, making for the season to date a total of 19.42 inches.

At a banquet recently given by a well known local club, the table decoration was a large centerpiece of roses brightened by myriads of miniature electric lights.

Mrs. "Bud" Havens Declares Tales Are Gossip and Bred of Malice

DENIES REPORT OF HER REGARD FOR LOUIS TITUS

Explains Incidents Leading to the Stories of Gifts of Jewelry.

MAINTAINS SILENCE CONCERNING DIVORCE

Says Allowance Given to Her Since Separation Is Mere Pittance.

"All these stories come from a few idle gossipers of Piedmont. There was gossip before Mr. Havens and I agreed to part, and now that it has become known that we have separated and that I intend to sue for a divorce, I suppose these women are busily gossiping again."

Mrs. Hope Havens, whose husband with her husband, Harrel Havens, son of the Oakland millionaire, were made public Saturday when it was discovered that she was living quietly at the Hotel Stewart in San Francisco, established a ninety-day residence there yesterday to file a suit for divorce, declared yesterday that she was taking her name with other in a will not done in her plans for seeking a legal separation.

ORIGINATED IN OAKLAND.

The stories she referred to above originated in Oakland and associate her name with that of Louis T. Titus, one of the most intimate friends of her husband's family. The stories told of an apparent deep interest between Mr. Titus and Mrs. Havens of how they were frequently in each other's company, and of how Mrs. Havens was prevailed on by Mr. Titus to make selections at the various San Francisco retail shops for his personal Christmas gifts. But the unkindest story of all intimated that a beautiful ring displayed at Shreve & C's during a visit there of Mr. Titus and Mrs. Havens, was later seen on a finger of one of Mrs. Havens' hands.

RIGHT TO REFUTE STORIES.

"I have declared already," continued Mrs. Havens, "that I will not discuss for publicity the specific grievances I have against my husband, and I intend to keep my word. But when stories such as these are bandied about I suppose that I have the right to refute them. They are undoubtedly the creation of some person who is not particularly attached to a woman's name. There is nothing in my husband's life concerning me personally that I am afraid to have exposed."

Mr. Titus was a dear friend of my husband and myself. We had many good times together. Mr. Titus, Mr. Havens and I, in fact, used to get together on my husband's behalf to suggest amusement, whether it was an amateur, a humor or a theater party.

RIGHT TO SELECT GIFT.

"It was decided to select one that would please the relative's wife, as well as himself. Another woman relative of Mr. Havens and myself were invited by Mr. Titus to select the present, the idea being that we would probably be the best judges as to what would be appreciated by the couple. This commission was performed, and that was the present I am supposed to have selected for Mr. Titus.

It is the story of the Shreve & Co. ring here; it is only my finger now, a present from my husband's brother, William Havens, who is located in San Francisco, and during the run of her finger Mrs. Havens displayed a cluster of diamonds on a broad band of gold, on the inside of which is the gold inscription of her brother-in-law.

"I suppose I am destined to hear a lot of foolish stories like these as long as I remain here. That is why I am anxious to return to my mother's home in New York, where I will try to forget at least four and a half years of my married life."

NOT TREATED RIGHT.

"I would not have returned here had my husband and his family treated me right. They east, according to the published reports, expressed surprise at my return, but they should not. It is here that my troubles began, and it is here that I have to end them."

When Mr. Havens and I first confided to his family a few months ago that we could no longer live happily together and had agreed to separate, Mr. Havens' sister, who was ever kind to me, folded me in her arms and cried. When it was realized that there was no hope for a reconciliation it was agreed that I should return to my mother in New York and the divorce should follow.

"Mr. Havens' family really agreed with him that I should be properly provided for, but they did not insist that I give him the money to return to my husband and my late-taking them until in writing speed. When I returned to the East a few weeks and only received from the person who gave it nothing, and looked at the situation in a sensible way, it dawned on me suddenly that the allowance my husband had agreed to me was not enough to even provide me with food in New York."

ALLOWANCE MEAGER.

"Why do you know the allowance he made me was but a few dollars more than we used to expend on our automobile each month for gasoline and minor repairs?" Then I turned to my mother's home, and involve her in the intricacies that naturally followed in a divorce case. "Secondly, I return to my mother's home, and involve her in the intricacies that naturally follow in a divorce case."

"Mrs. Havens said there were two other reasons for returning: First, to enforce a better settlement from her husband, and second, to avail herself of laws that are more lenient than those of New York."

"In New York," said Mrs. Havens, "you never can get free from the divorce on the case."

Mrs. "Bud" Havens says:

"All these stories come from a few idle gossipers of Piedmont. There was gossip before Mr. Havens and I agreed to part, and now that it has become known that we have separated and that I intend to sue for a divorce, I suppose these women are busily gossiping again."

"Mr. Titus was a dear friend of my husband and myself. We had many good times together, Mr. Titus, Mr. Havens and I."

"It is true, however, that I was asked by Mr. Titus to select a suitable article for a Christmas present gift to be made by him, and it is also true that a ring displayed at Shreve & Company's store afterwards adorned my hand."

"Why do you know the allowance my husband made me was but a few dollars more than we used to expend on our automobile each month for gasoline and minor repairs?" Then I began to ask myself why should I return to my mother's home and involve her good name in the notoriety that naturally follows a divorce case?"

Asked if her anxiety to hurry her suit through and obtain her decree could suggest a possible second marriage, Mrs. Havens sharply responded: "Positively no."

cooks. Here you receive your final decree at the end of a year. I want to get through with this as soon as possible."

DENIES INTENT TO WED.

Asked her anxiety to hurry her suit through and obtain her decree could suggest a possible second marriage, Mrs. Havens sharply responded:

"Positively no."

No amount of persuasion would induce Mrs. Havens to discuss the true reasons for her leaving her husband. Rumors have made it plain that her husband's alleged association with other women had led to separation. In fact, it has been common talk among Mrs. Havens' friends several times and then left him. Of these stories Mrs. Havens would have nothing to say.

"As you have said before," she remarked, "I am not married. I am married to another, although I was married to my first husband for only six months. Then it was a sort of tragedy. I had hoped and still hope that my divorce will be granted as soon as possible, so that the troubles that led to the unhappy marriage will be over."

Mrs. Havens denied many statements that she had intended to net, and especially those relating on the social element of Piedmont.

"I have not been criticizing society after the boy," she said. "I have many old friends in Piedmont, and I have associations. It was only a few gossips of Piedmont—gossips that one finds everywhere—that I found faint with."

CURES ARE MADE IN PLAGUE CASES

Woodmen's Sanitarium Has Success With the Dire Phthisis.

COLORADO SPRINGS, March 21.—The first annual report of Dr. J. E. White, medical director of the national sanatorium of the Modern Woodmen of America at Colorado Springs, Colo., has just been issued. The sanatorium was opened January 1, 1909, and during the year 214 tuberculous patients were admitted. The medical record shows twenty cures and twenty-two cases in which the progress of the disease has been arrested. Only four deaths occurred.

There are now 117 patients at the institution, 123 having left or been discharged. To date a total of $15,000 has been expended on the institution, the maintenance charges for the year amounting to $16,411.77 and the remainder being construction cost. Additional improvements costing $2,000 have been authorized. This includes a third tent colony, adding sixty tents to the 120 ready built together with a central administration building. Two adjacent ranches have been leased making 550 acres under cultivation. It is planned to establish a circulation library, a workshop for those who may do light work and a poultry farm of 1000 hens. The sanatorium is maintained by a per capita assessment of 10 cents per year.

PRESENT DAY ART TO BE COMPARED

Work of San Francisco Men to Be Hung in the Park Museum.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Through a decision rendered by Curator George Barron of the Park Museum and Park Commissioners, Mr. Earl Cunningham's important collection is to be given visitors the opportunity of comparing the better known and more highly valued art of former periods. Since it is to be reserved for the exhibition of pictures by the artists, and during the coming week there will be no admission charge.

The two antique paintings of the Italian school, which was distinguished by its variety and exaggeration of details in its figures, will be hung up to the museum by Mrs. Edward Pano. The pictures, by an unknown artist, came into the possession of a grandfather of Mrs. Edward Pano, a soldier of the last French campaign in the course of one of Napoleon's campaigns.

Other contributions have been received from F. Stratton, Mrs. L. Tabor, Charles L. Bell of Honolulu, William J. Hestell and William R. Hickmister.

M'CARTHY URGES MANUAL TRAINING

Mayor Plans for the Practical Education of San Francisco School Children.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The necessity for manual training in the schools was urged by Mayor P. H. McCarthy yesterday at the ceremony attending the laying of the cornerstone of the Longfellow School at Market and Jewel streets.

The new school, which was designed by the architect and engineer of the school, will be completed in time for the fall term.

Cracksmen Blow Packing Firm Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The offices of the Anglo Packing Company, 1612 Market street, were dismantled and the safe broken open by a gang of daring men who gained entrance through a four-foot hole cut in the floor of the eighth floor. The gang consisted of Miller, Hahn, and others, and the safe was found to be empty.

CHINESE AND WHITE MEN AT WAR IN APARTMENT

The Chinamen Create Havoc When White Boarders Try to Eject Them.

Demolish Rear Door and One Is Taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Two Chinamen, a father and son, made havoc of the rear of the fashionable Alexandria apartments at 1383 Webster street shortly before noon today when, after hanging about the place and demanding from Mrs. Drake, the proprietress, that they be allowed to take the position as cook, vacated yesterday by another Oriental, and when this was refused, they were given the $1 which they claimed due them by the departing countryman, they beat him in a fight with three of the boarders in the house, who were asked by Mrs. Drake to eject them.

As a direct result of the fracas Ah Lung, the younger of the two Chinamen, was taken to the receiving hospital for attention to his wrist, which he cut a deep gash when he shoved it through a glass panel of the kitchen door during the fight. Sim Lung's contribution to the destruction followed shortly after that of his son when he cast a heavy flower pot through another panel of the same door, completely demolishing that fixture and piling wood, glass and terra cotta in the middle of the kitchen.

Terror struck after a morning of complete chaos. Mrs. Drake telephoned for aid, first to the employment bureau at 362 Fifth street, from whence the Chinamen had come, and again to the police station, from which Captain of Police Lynch and Detectives Hodges and Kyle issued forth for the scene of the battle.

On their arrival at the Alexandria, they found Policeman Kohler in complete control of the situation, attempting to bandage up the bleeding wrist of the young Chinaman, aided by a hundred or so citizens of the neighborhood who had been called to the scene by the screams of the women, shouts of the men and false alarm of the Chinese. Meanwhile Policeman McKeegan was wandering around in the vicinity of the employment bureau on Fifth street from which the first cry of alarm had come.

According to Mrs. Drake, who led the fight against the Orientals, flanked by two of her male boarders, the pair appeared at the house shortly after 8 o'clock and requested that one of them be given the position of cook, vacated Saturday by another Chinese. Mrs. Drake had made up her mind to eliminate Chinamen from her household staff hereafter and told the Celestials this. They had been sent to the place by the employment bureau, and they requested the privilege of using the telephone. They telephoned to the bureau and then continued their altercation with Mrs. Drake. As each argument they would shout at the other, and accordingly dropped to the floor of his car and set the speed at top notch. He proceeded until he met Policeman Smith, who in turn set out in quest of the thugs.

STANDS GUARD.

This was kept up for over an hour, Mrs. Drake standing guard over them, fearing that they would ransack the house if given an opportunity. After an hour's bickering they made the claim that she owed the discharged Chinaman one dollar and they demanded the money. More telephone messages and more arguments followed this demand and finally the entire household of the fashionable place was aroused. The Chinamen finally grew threatening and Mrs. Drake called two of her roomers to eject them.

A fierce battle then followed, the two white men shoving the Orientals out of the back door, only to be compelled to repeat the process. Finally when the Chinamen commenced to break the door of the house, the son using his fist and the father a flower pot, a cry for help was sent out and the house was quickly surrounded by hundreds of the curious and Policeman Kohler. He was later joined by Captain Lynch and Detectives Hodges and Kyle. The two Chinamen were taken into custody and the young fellow was sent to the receiving hospital to have his wounded wrist attended to.

Charges will be preferred against the Chinese by Mrs. Drake.

PRELATE AT PALM SUNDAY SERVICES

San Francisco's Churches to Celebrate Beginning of Holy Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Palm Sunday in San Francisco was celebrated at St. Mary's cathedral and in other Catholic churches with dignity and impressiveness, while in the Protestant churches there was a like observance of the beginning of Holy Week.

Samuel Stephens, president of the West End Improvement Club, was president of the day. Other speakers were William Broderick of the Mission Promotion Association, Superintendent of Schools Alfred Roncovier, Miss Agnes Gallagher, past president Gundalow Parlor, Native Daughters, and State Senator Marc Anthony.

A procession of priests and members of the congregation was formed and supported by a band which was led by the archbishop by the Rev. Dr. John J. Murphy, who read the passion, the gospel, which was read in English from the pulpit and in Latin from the altar during the mass.

The Revolution in the House.

The successful emeute in the House against Speaker Cannon and the rules committee was a manifestation of the political disorganization prevailing not only in the Republican but the Democratic ranks. Neither the Democrats nor the insurgents are united on any affirmative policy. They joined hands to strip the Speaker of his power and knock out the rules which have heretofore enabled the majority to not only control legislation and suppress obstruction, but to choke off debate and reduce the minority to helpless submission.

The rules which have been abrogated by the action of the House were a logical expression of the principle of government by party. They were invented by Thomas B. Reed, who laid down the rule that it was the business of the majority to legislate and the privilege of the minority to kick—after being hobbled so as to make kicking ineffectual and almost inarticulate. It was inevitable that these rules should in time be changed for a code of procedure less restrictive on the minority and less available as a means of centralizing legislative power in a few hands. Their weakness was that they not only stifled the opposition party, but suppressed the minority of the majority party. The caucus acted through the rules and the Speaker reigned absolute. As long as the Speaker had the caucus behind him he was a dictator. His power was illustrated when he deposed Fowler of New Jersey and Cooper of Wisconsin from their chairmanships for refusing to report bills out of committee after being instructed to do so by the caucus.

Speaker Cannon is an able, patriotic and honest man, but he is a partisan through and through. To him the voice of the caucus is the voice of God. He has always obeyed without murmur or question, and he thinks all others ought to do likewise. He fights his battles in the caucus, and if he loses there goes out a militant supporter of what he may have opposed in the privacy of the party council. His partisanship has in it something of the ferocity and relentlessness of the border to which he came in his youth and of whose characteristics he still partakes. But even in defeat he is a gallant old warrior, a fine type of the primitive American—dauntless, honest, truthful and level-headed, but crude in many of his conceptions of national policy, narrow in his prejudices and ruthless in his methods. Precedent shows that he was right in his ruling on the Norris resolution, but behind the technical correctness of his ruling was the supreme right of the majority of the House to change the rules at will and elect a new Speaker if so minded. Not only a majority of the House, but the country at large has for some time been demanding more freedom of action in the popular branch of the national Legislature, more latitude in debate and a code of procedure less drastic and restrictive in character. This demand has steadily grown more insistent, and to close observers it was apparent that sooner or later a modification of the rules was inevitable. By resisting all change and exerting all the power given him by the rules to prevent change Speaker Cannon has brought humiliation on himself and possibly a calamity on his party.

Mr. Reed based his arbitrary system on the dictum that the House had ceased to be a deliberative body; that effective legislation is impracticable in a body of such large membership unless the minority was suppressed and committee report accepted in lieu of consideration on the floor of the House. Revolt against his system has been continuous from the start. At last it has been successful, but it has been at severe cost to the Republican party. At a time when solidarity and coherency are essential if the party's pledges are to be redeemed and the President's hands upheld, the Republicans in both Houses are divided into factions, with the minor factions in open alliance with the Democratic opposition.

The California Crop Outlook.

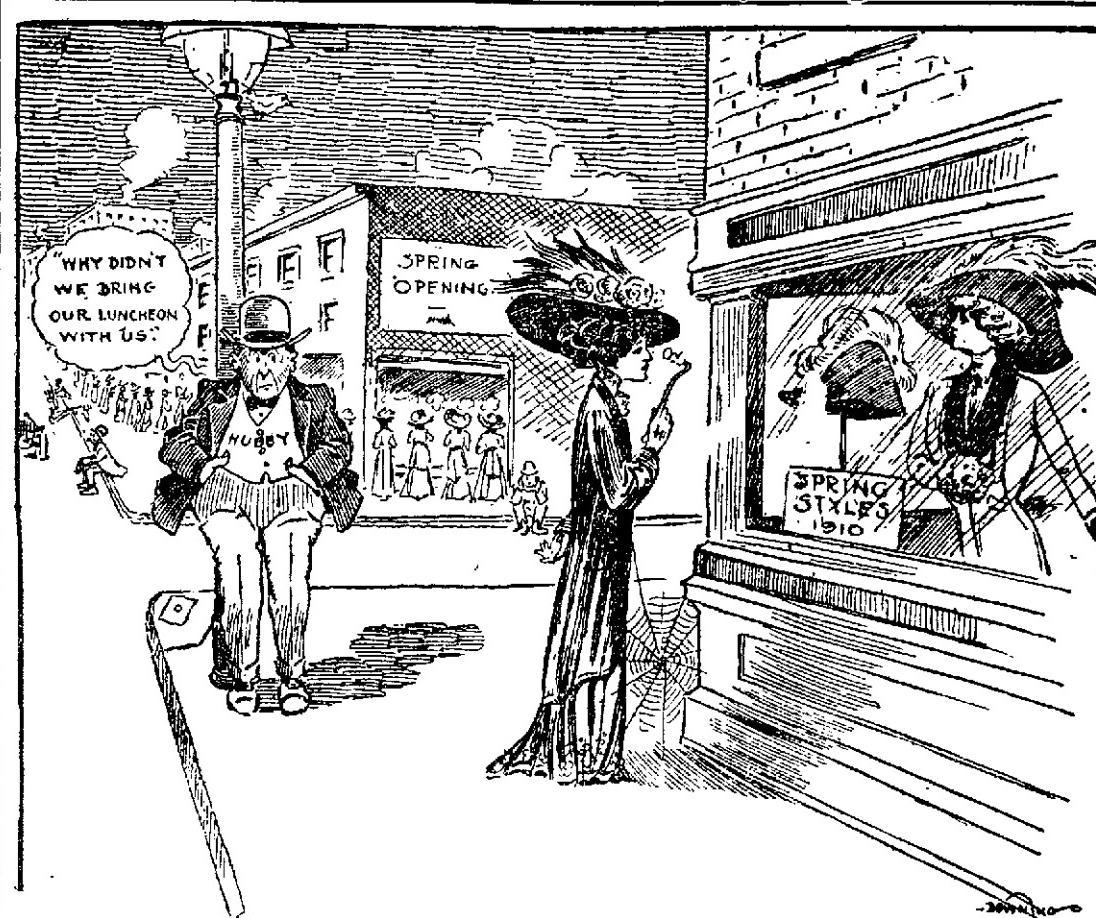

Events vitally affecting the interests and immediate prosperity of the entire State of California have been transpiring since Friday, but the newspapers of San Francisco have only given them passing mention. But there is nothing sensational, in a rain if it is not a flood causing loss of life and destruction of property. If it is merely of the kind that insures abundant crops and does no material damage, it is regarded as scarcely worth chronicling. Yet the rain that has fallen throughout the State since Friday is of inestimable value to every material interest in California. It is literally worth millions. The farmer, the miner, the merchant and the manufacturer will alike share in its benefits. Labor, too, will get its share. Never has there been such an acreage under cultivation in this State as now, and all lines of production promise a big yield in consequence of the abundant rains of the last few days. There will be big crops of fruit, grain and hay, and there will be plenty of water for mining and irrigation. Even the dullest mind ought to grasp what that means. Last year there were unusually heavy rains in January and February, but the rainfall in March was very light. Not a drop fell in April, the last shower of the season came on the 29th of March and was preceded by some weeks of dry weather. Precisely six months elapsed before any more rain fell. Nevertheless there was a fairly good crop yield, and as prices were high, the farmers had a prosperous season. This year the prospects are decidedly better. The rainfall has been no larger, but has been more seasonable and better distributed. The heavy precipitation at so late a date makes a heavy grain and hay crop a certainty; and it is good for the orchards and vineyards. But it does not appear to be news in many editorial sanctums. Still it is a blessing.

The Democrats and their insurgent allies could turn Uncle Joe down, but they couldn't turn him out.

The owners of the temporary wooden shacks erected in the burned district of San Francisco are protesting vigorously against the order to clear away the illegal structures. Their attitude is typical of the injustice and unfairness of human selfishness. It is a menace to the adjacent new buildings erected in conformity with the fire ordinance for these shacks to remain in the heart of the business district. They disfigure the appearance of the city and are obstacles to improvement. As long as they are permitted to stand and the owners can lease them at a good rental they will remain as eyesores and obstructions to progress. Instead of being thankful that the law has been so long suspended for their benefit, the owners of the unsightly rookeries take on an aggrieved tone and demand that a temporary privilege be converted into a permanent right. The shacks were erected under express promise by the owners to remove them whenever required to do so after a certain date. That date is long past, and now the shack owners, in violation of their pledges, are resisting the official command to remove the structures. They make a sorry display of sordid greed and bad faith.

Saturday morning Champ Clark, the Democratic House leader, said: "We are going to kill a few snakes before night." Yet not a single insurgent was counted among the slain.

Pedlar's Acre, Lambeth, has been sold by the Lambeth Borough Council to the London County Council for £51,342, and will form part of the site of the new county hall. The land has been in the possession of the parochial authorities since 1504, when it was let by the rector and church wardens of St. Mary's, Lambeth, at a rental of 2s 8d a year.

A man named Ashton Hayes, who lived alone and had worked for fifty years at the Runcorn docks for the Bridgewater trustees and the Ship Canal Company, always appeared to be in poor circumstances. Many persons who heard Rev. J. S. Nicollis, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of New York, preach his first sermon nearly a half a century ago in the historic building at Fifth and Walnut streets, were present the other Sunday when he commemorated his 45th anniversary as pastor of the church. Men and women in the congregation wept when the aged minister told them he would not hide from himself the knowledge that he is near the sunset of life. Dr. Nicollis said in part:

"Notwithstanding all the great changes which have taken place in that interval, the memory of that 'first day' is still fresh and green. The old historic building then at Fifth and Walnut streets, the gathered audience, the officers of the church and the ministers who took part in the service of the day are all as distinctly before me as though the event had taken place yesterday."

The largest draughts board in the world is to be found in the Wellington

Park, Greenock. It is eight feet square, and is formed of slabs of iron. The opposing "pieces" are distinguished by shape instead of colors, and, being of iron, weigh about fifteen pounds each. The players shift the pieces by means of cleeks. The board is in the open air, and in the summer months interested groups are frequently to be seen following the course of the games.—London Tid Bits.

When Dr. Henry Savage Landor was in Tibet he was, he says, almost beheaded by the natives. He writes: "The man Nerba, who was still holding me by the hair, was told to make me bend my neck. I resisted with what little strength I had left, and, with the nervous strain of a doomed man, determined to keep my head erect and my forehead high. They might kill me, true enough, they might hack me to pieces if they chose, but never until I had lost my last atom of strength would these ruffians make me stoop before them. I should perish, but it would be looking down upon the Pomo and his countrymen."

"The executioner, now close to me, held the sword with his nervous hands, lifting it high above his shoulder. He then brought it down to my neck, which he touched with the blade, to measure the distance, as it were, for a clean, effective stroke. Then, drawing back a step, he quickly raised the sword again and struck a blow at me with all his might. The sword passed disagreeably close to my neck, but did not touch me."

"I would not flinch or speak, and my demeanor seemed to impress him almost to the point of frightening him. He became reluctant to continue his diabolical performance; but the impatience and turbulence of the crowd were at their highest, and the lamas nearer to him gesticulated like madmen and urged him on again." Dr. Landor somehow escaped.

Copenhagen is a city of 500,000 inhabitants. During a week's stay I have seen no seller of matches or handlaces, no gutter merchant, no blind or other afflicted persons about the streets asking for alms—not one single sign of distress due to poverty. I have explored the artisans' quarters by day and late at night. There is not a single spot in the whole of Copenhagen that could be compared even remotely to the slums in our large towns. There are no unemployed hanging about the street corners, no unkempt women standing idly at the doors, no ragged and dirty children playing in the gutter. There are no dirty houses, with dirty or broken windows, mended with bits of paper, and a ragged apron or a torn bedclothes doing duty for a curtain.—London Express.

The Remedy for Fear

The Paris Revue, in order to find out how men of thought and action stand toward the feeling of being afraid has asked some notable Frenchmen whether they know fear.

M. Alfred Loisy, the well known professor of the College de France, explains that he has not the military temperament, and though he cannot boast of bravery he has never known fear. "Perhaps," he adds modestly, "is because I have never been in great peril." M. But, he adds, the remedy is always the same, "Go ahead! You are afraid as you put

STEERING of an AEROPLANE

The driving of a motor car demands a fair measure of vigilance and nerve, but by the general consent of those who have tried both forms of amusement it is nothing to the steering of an aeroplane. From the point of view of personal daring and initiative, the newest method of travel finds a closer parallel in the early human feats of taming the horse for riding and learning to sail a boat than in the invention of the steamship or the railway engine. The prominence of the human element in the new pursuit comes naturally out in the concentration of popular interest even more in the "flying men" than in their machines. When railways and steamships were new the absorption of public attention in them was immense. But the machine then dwarfed the man.—London Times.

RUDOLPH FORBIDS WIFE TO USE HIS NOBLE NAME

The Countess de Tolna Must Become Just Plain Miss Ella Haggan.

GEN. PICKETT'S WIDOW WILL GO ON THE STAGE

The Police Trace Sister of Girl Believed to Have Been Poisoned.

NEW YORK. March 21.—The marital history of the Count and Countess Rudolph Festetics de Tolna, respectively, was further complicated last week when the count served upon representatives of his former wife what he declared to be a decree forbidding her the further use of his noble name. According to authentic advice tonight, he will be successful only when his wife comes under the jurisdiction of the courts of Austria-Hungary.

Outside of that empire, the former Miss Ella Haggan will continue to be the countess of the ancient name whenever she pleases to be.

The countess, who is the daughter of Louis T. Haggan of this city, left her husband in 1899, and in 1900, in California, obtained a decree of absolute divorce which permitted her to retain the name of her husband. Some time later her husband obtained another decree from the courts of his native land.

CANNON DEMANDS ORDER.

Immediately after the "chaplain had concluded his prayer a buzz of conversation arose. Rapping the speakers to order, angrily the Speaker consented them that the unanimous consent calendar, which was the order of the day was not a safe calendar until the House considered it in an orderly manner.

The unanimous consent calendar referred to by Mr. Cannon was a part of the new rules adopted by the House about a year ago.

INSURGENTS WANDERING.

Not a few of the insurgents who voted for Cannon's retention are wondering whether they made a political blunder, whether their anti-slavery constituents will not indeed hold the retention of Cannon in the Speaker's chair to have nullified the vote to eliminate him from the rules committee.

The Republican regulars complacently claim the insurgents who voted for the Speaker have returned to the party fold. The Democrats taunt these insurgents with having been recreant to the logic of their insurgency. Nobody seems entirely happy about the outcome. Even in the Senate, the insurgents are apprehensive lest the insurgent delegation may spread to that House; the insurgent Senators are wondering whether they have made the most of their opportunities.

WORDS CUT TO QUICK.

Speaker Cannon's defiant speech last night before the Illinois Republican Association, in which he contemptuously denounced the insurgents of the House who stood behind him in the final test, as "cowardly members of Congress without the courage of their convictions," has cut to the quick those men who responded with their votes to what they say they believed to be their duty for the party and to the country and saved him from utter humiliation.

"Before making the lease," said Mrs. Klopp, "I had repeatedly asked my husband why he did not leave, as he had threatened many times to do. He was getting his board and lodgings free and apparently liked it so well that he would not go."

"Why did you wish to get rid of Mr. Klopp?" the witness was asked.

"Well," she replied, "he had been talking about me and threatening to get a divorce from me, and I simply told him that he did not have to live with me if he did not want to. He was always saying things about me to my friends and trying to worm money out of me. Finally it came to such a pass that I had to put an end to it and the only way I could make him do something for himself was to turn the house over to someone else."

Trace Dead Girl's Sister

AKRON, O. March 21.—Catherine Manta, the 15-year-old girl who disappeared from her home at Massillon Falls, shortly before the discovery of the mysterious death of her sister Elizabeth, has been traced to this city.

Last night, Chief of Police Ertle of Massillon, aided by the local officers and several detectives from Canton, searched the city for the girl.

A man, close to her whereabouts, through a Greek fruit dealer, who says the police at his store said he had been left at his store by a girl answering the description of Catherine Manta. The girl contained clothing, which was identified as belonging to the dead sister.

Shortly afterwards two young men, who admitted they had been intimate friends, were arrested in connection with the police they had seen her in Akron. One of them said she was reading a newspaper that contained the story of the search being made for her.

Commissioner George C. Conroy, who conducted the inquiry into the death of the elder Manta girl, said last night that he was positive that her death had been caused by strichloro poisoning. The stomach of the dead girl was removed and will be sent to the Western Reserve University at Cleveland tomorrow morning for examination.

Women Injured

YONKERS, N. Y. March 21.—Miss Emily Edwards, a sister of Julian Edwards, the composer, and Alice Gross, H. Thomas, formerly known on the stage as Maude Hollins, were seriously injured here last night in a collision between a coach and a trolley.

Mrs. Edwards, two ribs and her collarbone broken and was badly cut about the head, but her recovery is looked for. Mrs. Thomas is in no danger, although her injuries are painful.

Mrs. Flynn Applies For Permit to Repair

BERKELEY, March 21.—A building permit for the reconstruction of a house set fire to some time ago by George Beardon, her tenant, in an attempt to collect insurance, was applied for this morning by Mrs. Matilda Flynn, alias "The Queen of the Frat," of the fraternity. The house, which is situated at the corner of Ward and Ellsworth streets, was damaged by the fire, and Beardon arrested on a charge of arson. He claimed that the Belmont woman had hired him to set the place on fire.

Marloins Overcoats From "Frat" Houses

BERKELEY, March 21.—Effecting an entrance through the front door, which is always open, a gangster last night removed four valuable articles from the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house in this city.

This is one of a number of similar thefts which have taken place in the past two months, a number of fraternity and club houses having been entered.

The steals, which were valued at $100, were the property of Allen Collins, S. C. Cribner, R. F. Curry and A. L. Piper, all members of the fraternity.

WOULD BAR INSURGENTS.

authorizing the new rules committee of the House to revise, amend, simplify and codify the rules of the House.

BIG CROWD PRESENT.

The galleries were almost filled with the House convened. Representative Murdock of Kansas in a group near the Speaker's rostrum was talking over the situation. Representative Foster of Vermont, who voted with the regulars, but was classed in the recent Democratic speech of Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, as a "near insurgent," joined the group.

"How are you children this morning?" asked Foster.

"Splendid," replied Murdock.

Sherley of Kentucky, the Democrat who tried to stop Mr. Burleson of Texas from offering his resolution to depose Cannon and elect a new Speaker, was discussed as a possible Democratic member for the rules committee.

Speaker Cannon called the House to order at noon.

Mrs. Klopp Tells Court Spouse Refused to Support Her or Himself.

HAD TO LEASE HOUSE TO MAKE HIM LEAVE

All He Ever Gave Her Was $48 Since She Married Him, Wife Asserts.

Jennie E. Klopp's suit for divorce from George W. Klopp occupied the attention of Superior Judge Ellsworth again today, the wife being under cross examination the greater part of the day. She testified in reply to questions by her husband's attorney that during the period she lived with Klopp he had flitted away about $7500 of the money left to her by her deceased husband, George W. Manuel, and that all the money he had contributed to her support was about $48. In her opinion, it was simply a case of a husband living on dead man's money and she finally became so weary of it that she told him to get out and shift for himself.

But Klopp could not be forced out of the house until Mrs. Klopp made a "fake lease" of her home to her mother for a term of six months, she told the court. The mother took possession, according to Mrs. Klopp, but Klopp still held onto his room and refused to vacate until she practically ousted him by putting his trunk out of the house.

EXPLAINS "FAKE LEASE."

Judge Ellsworth asked Mrs. Klopp what she meant by the term "fake lease," and the witness replied that it was a "blind lease," made with her mother for the sole purpose of getting rid of Klopp. The witness admitted that it was upon the advice of her attorney that she resorted to this means of ridding herself of her husband.

CHARGES OTHERS WITH EMBEZZLING

Accused Telephone Cashier Implicates Superiors in His Crime.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—I am not the only one who has been ruined in T. O. U.'s. When the investigation has been completed others higher up than I will be found to have taken the telephone company's money."

This is the statement made by William T. Brown, assistant cashier of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, who admits having robbed the company. Brown, who today is assisting the experts working on the books of the telephone company, predicts that when the detectives have finished their inquiry it will be found that others high up in the telephone company will have been implicated.

Brown admits that he embezzled money from the telephone company. His shortage so far is $4260, and Brown himself professes not to know how high the sum will go. The telephone company is protected by a $25,000 surety bond given by Brown. Brown has not been arrested, but Captain Jules Callendar of the Morse Detective Agency represents that he prefers a charge of felony embezzlement against him but a matter of a few days.

When Bartholomew H. Foley, assistant cashier in the office of Treasurer Frederick Eaton of the telephone company, was arrested two weeks ago for embezzeling $5000, he said, "Well, if they come to some of the higher-ups."

When Captain Callendar learned of having embezzled money from the phone company, Brown made a similar statement. Callendar thinks that Foley, in his statement, referred to Brown, but will not say now who he believes Brown refers to. There are two officials in the treasury department of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company above Brown.

Brown admits that he has been studying from the corporation for the past two years. Officials of the company say that as much as $50,000 has been taken during the past three months.

LOHENGRIN EVENING.

The Lohengrin evening to be presented by Miss Herbert Sanford Howard of Berkeley at Kohler & Chase hall in San Francisco next Wednesday evening is being keenly anticipated by lovers of the classics, not only because the entertainment to be given is one of the first steps toward the perpetuation of the classical on the platform, but on account of the reputation of Mrs. Howard as one of the most finished readers of California.

The entertainment is being given under the patronage of an executive board composed of the presidents of the several women clubs of San Francisco. These club women, seeing that the classics and the public's appreciation of them were becoming widely dissociated as the former lapsed further and further in desuetude, resolved to move into an alliance to present the best which the ages have produced for the nostrum.

The first fruit of this resolution is the Lohengrin evening at which Ada Dow Currier, the woman who produced Julia Marlowe and other histrio-clastic stars, will present Mrs. Howard.

The program for Wednesday evening is planned so that the most attractive features of the great work will be emphasized.

Fashions in Flowers Go Around in Circles

WASHINGTON.—Just before "Jim" Gordon's farewell speech in congress as senator from Mississippi he and his wife were guests at a banquet at the White House, at which jonquils figured conspicuously among the floral decorations.

"Fashions in flowers, as in everything else, go around in circles," remarked Mrs. Gordon in reminiscent mood. "Jonquils, or, as we used to call them, daffodils, were favorite flowers with my mother, and our garden at home was gorgeous with them in the early spring. They spread so fast that at last my mother uprooted them by the score and tossed them into a ravine close to the house, but instead of dying they took root, and soon the whole ravine and the woods adjoining were a mass of golden blooms. No one took any notice of them then, for at that time jonquils were considered quite too old-fashioned, but they became the vogue again about ten years ago, and one afternoon I went down into the ravine and replanted the discarded flowers in a conspicuous place in the garden, making it the envy of all my neighbors. To see so many jonquils here to-night takes me straight back to the time they first overran our garden, and I am glad to see they have come into their own again."

Many a woman watches sadly the romance of love fading out of her life. She knows her husband loves her as much as ever, but all those thoughtful little attentions and expressions of love that made the engagement days so happy gradually disappear. She knows now what to expect for all married women have told her what will come to pass. Nevertheless, it takes much of the rose-color out of her life and leaves it a notorious gray. She accepts the fact however, thinking there is no remedy.

Yet here and there one sees a couple who are lovers until they are for a score years and ten, until, in fact, they are called hence. Are they exceptional people or have they some secret for preventing the loss of color of love from fading?" asks Barbara Boyd in the St. Louis Times.

It is no great secret. It is simply a point of vantage that some women comprehend and seize and others do not, or else think it is not worth while.

The woman who keeps her lover in her husband is the woman who never relaxes the charms and attractions of her girlhood, those little things that first attracted him. This doesn't mean that as she grows older she foolishly tries to act girlishly or to act kittenish in her manner. She simply carries with her into age those graces that made him love her. She does not let herself become commonplace, dull and dowdy.

Many a woman thinks after she is married that life is settled now, that her husband can't escape, no matter what she does, and she relaxes in many of the little things that were his admiration. She does not love him any less. She will do everything possible for his comfort, make his home pleasant, cook his food to his liking, nurse him night and day if he is sick. But she grows careless about dress. She is untidy, sometimes even slovenly. She relaxes in the little niceties of manner. She becomes humdrum and uninteresting. This is all disillusionment to a man, who, as a rule, believes his bride is pure gold.

Conversation Is One of Blights of Civilization

Conversation is one of the blights of civilization.

People spend thousands of dollars in education, in books, in travel, in theater tickets, and all that in order to be able to carry on a conversation.

As a consequence the women talk about clothes and clothes and the men about weather and women.

Conversation may be divided into chats, arguments, piffle and palaver, with gossip and quarrels as a side issue.

Conversations are fortunately forgotten as soon as they are over, otherwise people would be so mortified over their inane remarks that they would never speak again every day. The idea that when people meet it is necessary for them to talk has grown out of hopeless self-distrust. Not over five out of a million people say anything when they converse.

The art of conversation is a lost one and the art of keeping still demands cultivation.

The trouble is that we are trying to develop the art of keeping still we should immediately begin to talk about it.

25-Inch Hats Decreed By Fortune This Season

NEW YORK.—Twenty-five inch hats

president of the National Association of Milliners, who held its annual convention in Chicago.

"Broader brims and higher prices will be the rule," she said. "It may be necessary for husbands to put bank notes in bank and for sextons to throw open both church doors on Easter morning, but we can't help it. American women want broad-brimmed hats, and it is our duty to provide what they want. Twenty inches will be a low average. The question of maximum width is one of individual taste. You need not be surprised at anything this year, although it is true that the width of doorways may have something to do with it. No right-thinking woman will want to hold her head sideways to get her hat through the doorway."

"Is there any special market condition which calls for increased prices?" Miss Forbes was asked.

"Oh, yes, indeed, there is," she replied. "You see the foreign makers have obtained a corner in important and popular materials. They are holding up the prices on us, and we have to raise charges which will allow a fair margin of profit. I'm afraid untrained crowds will cost not less than $25 this year. This does not interest the women, particularly, but will be of general interest to the men."

She Beams on the Jury For a $3000 Verdict

NEW YORK.—After a verdict of $3000 against Theodore A. Ryerson, who had woosed her ardently and then refused to wed her, had been given for Mrs. Helen M. Walters in the supreme court yesterday that attractive Chicago widow made a pretty little speech, in which she thanked the jury heartily.

"I did not bring this suit to get any of his money," she said. "I merely wanted to vindicate before the persons who knew of my engagement and then looked askance at me when the wedding did not take place."

Counsel for Ryerson moved for a stay to enable his client to perfect an appeal. Mirabeau L. Towns, counsel for the widow, said he hoped Justice Dugro would not grant a long stay, because it amounted to much more.

Teaching Women to Speak

NEW YORK.—The price of admission to the class for public speaking, which is held under the auspices of the Equality League of Self-Supporting Women, at 43 East Twenty-second street each Thursday evening, is a speech. At the door you are bidden to give name and address, and you may not leave until an address has been delivered. School teachers, society women, shirtwaist strikers, clubwomen—all ardent suffragists, of course—meet in a little room on the top floor of the Woman's Trade Union Building to learn the fundamental principles of elocution and to conquer the common bugbear stage fright.

Under the supervision of Miss Frances Nelson the scholars begin the evening by reciting Tennyson in unison and with appropriate gestures. Inspiring as is "The Charge of the Light Brigade," nothing quite equals "The Splendor Falls on Castle Walls," as the little graceful gesture accompanying "fallen splendor" is so effective, particularly when followed by "And the wild exultant leaps in on phatic exercises have been practiced the serious work of the evening begins.

This consists of a debate on a stiff question or extemporaneous two minute speeches on any given subject. The first might be more of a success at any club other than an equal franchise league, where the very rooms are lined with yellow "Votes for Women" banners. In such an atmosphere even the most ardent student of public speaking would find it hard to take "the other side" and become an "anti" merely for the sake of argument.

Even when that difficulty is removed by selecting a more debatable subject there is always the difficulty of getting on the same side with your enemies and on the other side from your friends.

Furthermore when you are of a feminine turn of mind you want, of course, to be on the side that has the last word, and as ever one can't be on the same side here is another stumbling block. But Miss Nelson by tact and persuasiveness is able to sort the members into "affirmatives" and "negatives."

MAYOR MAKES BIG CHANGES IN POLICE FORCE

Three Heads and Scores of Others Affected by Order of McCarthy.

DUKE IS TRANSFERRED FROM BARBARY COAST

O'Dea Elevated to Acting Captain and Anderson Goes to Tenderloin District.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The expected shakeup in the local police department came this morning when Chief of Police Martin with one sweep of the axe changed preferred ones to important companies and transferred others to the Cabbage Patch and Fog Belt district. Two captains, one acting captain, nine lieutenants, three sergeants, one corporal and nearly two score of patrolmen are concerned in the orders which go into effect today.

The most important change is the transfer of Captain Thomas F. Duke from the command of Company A, which includes the Barbary Coast and tenderloin sections of the city, to Company H, widely known as the Cabbage Patch district, extending as it does from Twenty-Sixth street to the county line. Acting Captain Hogan, who has been in charge of Company H, has been returned to the rank of lieutenant and changed to Company G.

O'DEA IS ELEVATED.

Lieutenant H. G. O'Dea is elevated to the rank of acting captain, and placed in charge of Company C. Another important transfer is the moving of Captain E. Anderson from Company C to Company A. Anderson dislikes the change but the position has been forced upon him.

Sergeant T. A. Atchison, formerly a patrol clerk under Chief Cook, has been detailed to his former position in the general office. Detective G. T. Gallagher of the Mission district, has been relieved and sent back to the street in Company A, his place being taken by Patrolman G. H. Richards.

OTHER CHANGES.

Other important changes are: Lieutenant J. M. Lewis, Company A to Company B; Acting Lieutenant J. J. Ferrell, Company A to Company D; Lieutenant M. Anderson, Company C to Company D; Lieutenant J. H. Helm, Company D to Company C; Lieutenant J. Mullender, Company D to Company G; Lieutenant H. G. Wright, Company G to Company A; Lieutenant W. Stidman, Company E to Company A; Lieutenant A. Sylvester, Company F to Company D.

JURGEWITZ TRIAL MOVING SLOWLY

Jury in Murder Case May Not Be in the Box Before Tomorrow.

Judge James Murphy of Mono county is sitting at the trial of Fred W. Jurgewitz for the alleged murder of Claude F. Smith, which was begun this morning in the criminal department of the Superior Court, in place of Judge Everett J. Brown. Silv progress was made today in the work of getting a jury, and the indications are that the introduction of evidence will not begin before tomorrow afternoon. Attorneys A. L. Fritch and H. S. Churchill appear for the accused man, while Chief Deputy Attorney Attorney Carey has the prosecution in charge. Jurgewitz will sit up the claim that he was killed in self-defense. Jurgewitz is a manufacturer of stucco work and has one home on 1312 Twentieth avenue. Smith was one of his employees, and the trouble which led to the shooting that resulted in his death, several months ago, occurred in the street just outside his home on the night of January 5. Smith had made remarks to Jurgewitz involving the character of the latter's wife, which the latter resented. He claimed that Smith, who was a bitter quarrel, which terminated in Smith hitting Jurgewitz into the street. "I hit it out." Jurgewitz accepted the challenge, as he stepped out of his door, and sent him reeling to the pavement. Jurgewitz jumped to his feet and drawing a revolver, shot Smith in the abdomen. He claimed that Smith, who was his physical superior, was running at him when he sent him down with a bullet.

After his preliminary hearing, Jurgewitz was released from custody under a heavy bond, and has been at liberty ever since.

Wheeler Likes Germany, but Is Glad He Is Back; Asserts Col. Roosevelt Will Lecture at University in 1911

SAYS FORMER PRESIDENT WILL UNITE ALL EUROPE AND THE BRITISH ISLES

Compares the Fatherland to Anthracite Coal in That It Is Produced by Pressure of Two Great Forces

WHEELERGRAMS

It is good to be here.

The peril of Germany is whether she can bear success. German and English universities are alike in having to do with young people of the same age—the resemblance seems to end there.

I am not sure that students at Oxford do not get something that might be called an education.

I went to a fire in Berlin. The fire company drove up and three firemen, dressed spick and span and looking like brigadier generals, walked up the steps, knocked at the door and asked respectfully if they could be of any assistance.

The American spirit is like a fresh salty breeze.

The thing that seems to unite Europe and England is the return of Colonel Roosevelt.

Germany, modern Germany, is like anthracite coal, produced by pressure of two great forces.

Militarism may in Germany be charged up to the account of education. The army is not for war exclusively, but to create a people able to take orders.

Germany is preparing to fight it out in the industrial and commercial field. Trained producers, trained sellers, trained consultants and organization must win her fight for her.

Ex-President Roosevelt will visit California during the spring of 1912 and will lecture at the University. He is popular in England and appeals to the English ideals.

"It is good to be here."

When President Benjamin Ide Wheeler made his inaugural address eleven years ago he stamped these words upon the mind of the college public as characteristic of him, and as he passed the threshold of his residence in Scenic avenue, just north of the university campus last evening, he said, with a sigh of relief:

"It is good to be here."

Back from a six month's course in political science and government under the German Emperor, from a course in pedagogy under the greatest German educators, back from testing himself by the standards of European scholarship and followed by his trip, the first thought of the president of the State University was the taking up of his work again. The trip has been to him a sort of preparation for the swing of work of the second decade of his administration of the university.

With a record of ten years' unprecedented growth and development at California under his direction behind him, he has taken his breath and waded into the work anew with the purpose of making the State University as great as the greatest in the land, he says.

"They are a people trained. They took me in and treated me finely. But I felt immediately that I became a part of their machinery. Germania wonders at our lax way of doing things, but sometimes it crosses the German mind that our way may be better in that it gives the individual the opportunity to stand by himself. The difference is aptly suggested by the railroad sign, 'Passengers stand here at their own risk.' In Germany that would read, 'Passengers prohibited to stand here on penalty of fine or five months' imprisonment.'

"They are a people trained. They are like anthracite coal. There is not much anthracite coal in the world, and that has been produced by the tremendous pressure of geological strata. Modern Germany has been produced in the same way. It is hard and full of resistance. It has been produced by the pressure of two great political forces, the slave on the one side and the terrible foreign rule imposed by Napoleon on the other.

PREPARES FOR BIG THINGS.

"Since 1815 Germany has been preparing itself for great things. Its military has not been organized to its present perfection to make war upon other people, but as a means of creating a trained and organized people. Military men in Germany are charged up to the account of education. Even the street car conductor must have gained a certain rank in the army before he is eligible to study to become a conductor. He must know how to give and receive orders, if feel where the balance lies between the two functions.

"Because Germany is a trained people, she has imperiled the commerce of England by her competition, and England is troubled greatly by the German peacock. The Germans are puzzled over England's attitude. They are not worrying about war. They are training their people for the industrial war, training them as sellers, traders, manufacturers, training their consuls to exploit German goods.

PERIL LIES IN SUCCESS.

"The harvest of training such as this is success, and in success lies the peril of Germany. She has been engaged in mastering little things, but she is arriving at great things. The peril is in this transition from the small to the large. It is the test of the system of bureaucracy whether it can stand prosperity. Germany is governed by clockwork now, and the best men go in to public service, instead, as we do, of going into the service of private corporations. But bureaucracy may become a burden, and the complex system would be under heavy strain in being converted from present methods.

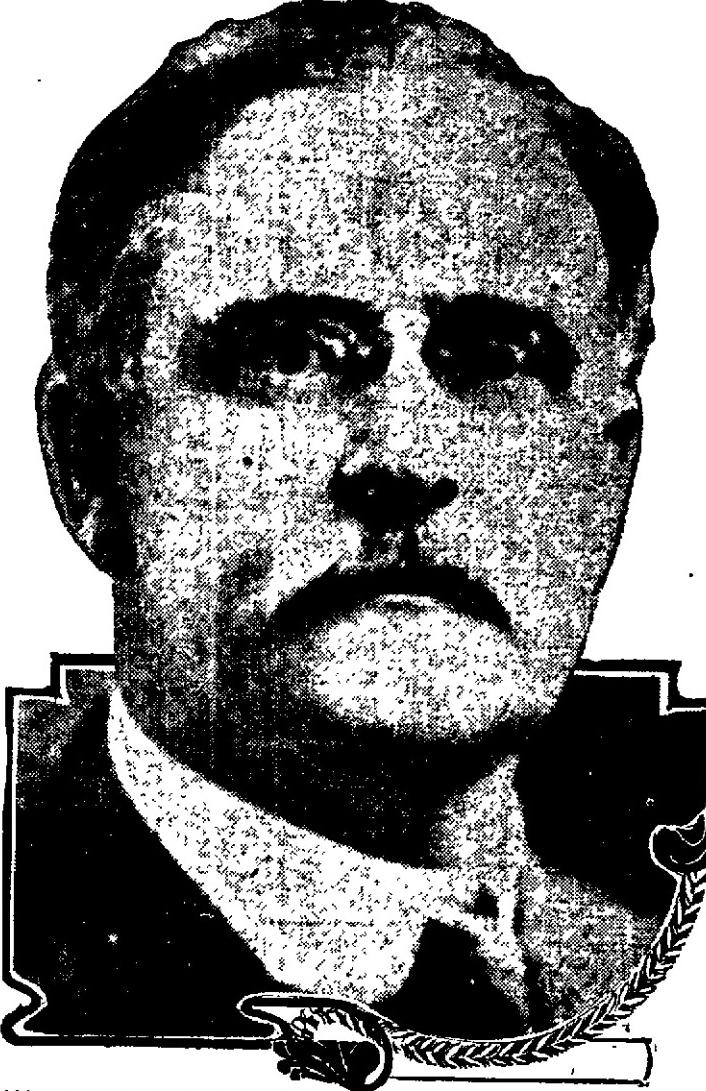

"The American spirit is like a fresh, strong breeze. I feel the difference immediately I arrived. We have many things to learn from Germany, and I have the hope that some day a set of trained men will go into public service here. We need specialists, and I cannot see the care of streets and laying out sewers is a matter of politics. It is a business and should be conducted as such. Public service is a profession in Germany, and a young man may start out to study to become a mayor, going methodically through the offices leading to that position. And the public service positions are virtually life jobs.

COUNTRY PROSPEROUS.

"I found Germany prosperous. There was no unemployed class. It was hard to find people to do work for one, and I believe this to be a result of their system of training."

Doctor Wheeler spoke in a deprecating manner when asked about the little assembly of professors and students in Berlin organized and named after him the "Wheeler Gesellschaft." He told of his

BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER, who has just returned from Berlin, where he served as Roosevelt exchange professor.

Sidelights on Wheeler's Trip

Entertained his classes at German restaurants, Debated in German on value of co-education, Ate pretzels with German Emperor, while Empress did knitting.

Tried his hand—or rather foot, he said—at skating with unpleasant consequences. Enjoyed skating in Switzerland.

Brought home boxes of German cigars.

Broke record in coming from France to Berkeley.

Helped American students to find lodgings and acted as general information bureau.

Corresponded with Roosevelt hunting lions in African jungles, and received promise of bull elephant for university.

Gave an "Oski Wow Wow" for benefit of the German students, who did not understand what he meant by a college yell.

Feasted with Rhodes scholars.

Had an international assembly named after him.

Had students of six nationalities under him including a member of the house of peers, 76 years old, and the German Emperor.

first lecture, attended by the Kaiser and the Kaiserin, which resulted in the invitation to dine at the German court.

"I had not anticipated a formal opening address, and when I found the professors, students, the Emperor and Empress and state dignitaries before me, and heard my voice speaking German for the first time in thirty years in public! I had a touch of stage fright. I read from manuscript but gradually gained ease and was able to dispense with the notes and manuscript. I made a lot of mistakes, but the people were tolerant. I gave two lectures a week after that, my class number being about 300 students.

ENJOYS PRIVACY.

"I enjoyed the greatest possible freedom in talking to my classes. No one is allowed to enter the class room excepting by permission of the lecturer, and such a thing as reporting a lecture in the newspapers is unheard of. I could talk very freely, telling personal anecdotes concerning affairs here, things that had never been published, and my confidence was respected.

"Among my students was one 78 years old, a professor and an official. There were four women students, two American students, two Englishmen, one Frenchman and one Russian. With about 50 of these as a nucleus, we formed a seminar to discuss problems of education. The subject of my lectures was 'The University in a Democracy,' and problems of education, high school preparation, and the development of various branches of training to meet needs.

WOMEN IN SCHOOLS.

"Coeducation has been established in many schools and colleges. In but few places is there coeducation in the high schools, the universities being more inclined to admit women. Women teachers are very few. Less than twenty per cent of teachers in all Germany are women, while here the percentage is about reversed. The German educators are determined not to increase the percentage of women. No, we did not come to any conclusions on coeducation. I cannot express an opinion on the matter.

"I enjoyed my job on schedule time," he said with some pride. "Now I begin work anew. Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock I get in harness again. I am highly pleased with the way things have gone during my absence. I have received many letters telling of progress here, and always the changes have met with my approval. It gives one a reliance upon the spirit and practice of self-government. I do not see that they need me at all. They are trained to take care of themselves, and no one man is necessary to all the rest. I might just as well have stayed away."

"His look belied his words, however,

MAYBRAY GANG PISTOL SEIZED BY TWO MEN HE PLANNED TO ARREST

Ten Must Pay $10,000 Fine and Serve Two Years in Prison.

JOCKEY WILLARD POWELL AMONG THOSE PUNISHED

Four Who Confessed Get Off With Fifteen and Six Months.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, March 21.—The maximum penalty of two years in the Federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and a fine of $10,000 was meted out to John C. Maybray and nine others by Judge Smith in the Federal District Court here today, when they appeared for sentence following their conviction by a jury Sunday for extensive swindling by fraudulent use of the mails.

Four other defendants received less severe sentences. Aside from Maybray, those given the full penalty were Edward Lower, Edward Morris, Tom S. Robinson, Edward Beach, Clarence Forbes, Garry Forbes, Ed McCoy, Clarence Clark and Willard Powell.

FOUR PLEADED GUILTY.

Bert Shores and William Marah, who pleaded guilty, were sentenced to fifteen months in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $100 each.

Winford S. Harris, who also pleaded guilty, and Frank Scott were sentenced to six months in jail and fines of $100 each.

Attorneys for the defense at once began preparing motions for a new trial.

According to Smith's statement, the two men were both under 21 years, the younger of the two being only 21 years old. He explains that it was a young man who first pointed a revolver at his face after he had searched both of them and taken a gun from the larger and older of the two. He says that he was not able to find a weapon on the smaller man.

Smith had watched the two men in a shooting gallery, at Fifth and Washington streets, and when they left the place and started south on Washington street he followed. They entered a doorway of a lodging house and as the policemen passed he heard them say that they had better go to bed. After he had passed, however, they came out of the doorway and turned into Second street. Policeman Smith ran around the block on First street and came upon them again, going north on Washington street. He approached them near Third street and ordering them to stop made a search of their clothing. He found nothing on the smaller man, but took a revolver from the larger one. He then ordered them to come with him and walked down toward the police telephone box at First and Broadway.

SMALL MAN WORKS.

"Just after crossing Second street," Smith says, "the small man jumped before me and thrusting a revolver in my face told me to put up my hands or he would blow my head off. As I turned to face him the larger man took my pistol from my pocket, as well as his own, while I was taken from him. While the little fellow kept me covered the older man emptied the shells from my revolver and threw it over the fence in the yard of the Oakland Gas Light and Heat company.

"Keeping me covered they then ordered me to walk away from them, and not to turn around. I walked so, however, that I could see them and they ran away down Second street. I then turned to the police box and gave the alarm."

LETTERS FROM ROOSEVELT.

"While abroad I had several letters from Colonel Roosevelt. It seemed to me while I was in Europe that the thing England and the Continent are united about is the interest in the return of Roosevelt. They are all watching for his return and talking about him. Roosevelt is very popular in England. He appeals to the English ideal, the ideal of a sportsman-statesman.

"Roosevelt will visit California during the spring of 1912. He will lecture at the university and will my guest for a time. I cannot say whether I will be in my campus house at that time. I shall go where the regents send me, but I am pretty well satisfied here."

"I left Mrs. Wheeler and the boy at Vienna, where they were joined by Professor and Mrs. A. C. Miller. They are now in Sorento, Southern Italy, and will come north by easy stages, visiting Rome and Florence. Mrs. Wheeler and the boy were with me in Berlin, but did not travel about as much as I did."

"In spite of the wonderful mechanical organization of the German system, I was glad to reach America and feel the fresh breeze of the American spirit. We are more wasteful and uneconomical, but with each mistake we learn new things and gain new strength and individuality, more personal power."

"This university is an instance of self-government, and I am more than happy at the results. During my absence the university has lost two of its faithful servants. I am pained to return and find them gone."

TRIBUTE TO STRINGHAM.

"Word of the death of Professor Stringham came to me almost as I was beginning my work, and it almost caused me to return. He was a pillar of strength and perhaps I am in the best position to know. He gave his whole life to the university, not in the showy affairs, but in things close to his heart. He planted his life in the life of the university. We can never repair so great a loss."

"Professor Elsing had not been active for some time, but stood for good cheer and was wise and patient counselor and excellent scholar, and a man who through his strong energy put inspiration into the young university. I am pained to return and find him gone."

"The members of the student body are happy to see him again among them, and they are to be hoped that he will concur with their sentiment that it is good to be here."

In which to do it. I came back refreshed and ready for my task."</

LAUGHTER ABSENT AT MUTE'S DANCE

Light Feet Tell of Light Hearts
Though Lips Are Sealed.

NEW YORK, March 21.—"If you want to see a strange sight, go upstairs," said the doorman of a Brooklyn hall on a recent Saturday evening.

The reception hall was thronged with women and men in evening attire. The bathroom rang with the strains of an inspiring two step. Waiters hurried among the tables in the gallery overlooking the dancers.

It was a typical ballroom scene save in one feature. It was voiceless.

Except for the music of the orchestra and the slide of gliding feet no sound arose. It was a dance of the deaf mutes, the annual social gathering of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf. The assembly numbered over 550 persons, gathered from various parts of Greater New York and its vicinity who with few exceptions were deaf and dumb.

SILENT DANCE.

A silent dance—the phrase jars, for the mind naturally associates dancing with joyous voices. But it only the voices were stilled. Eyes laughed, cheeks glowed. Hugs framed unuttered exclamations of delight, and light feet told of lighter hearts. No frolic of schoolgirls ever was happier than this dance.

Among the guests were a number of persons who had made their mark. There were two sisters who are artists and illustrators; another woman who has succeeded as a designer of silver; a partner in a firm of photographers, a member of a publishing concern, the proprietor of a unique periodical, the owner of a manufactory employing 500 persons.

NEED NO MUSIC.

How can the deaf dance without the sound of music? Do they feel the vibration? Have they a keener sense of rhythm than the person of normal hearing? These questions were unanswered by one of the members of the society.

The deaf do not feel the vibration to the extent popularly believed, he said. Many of them learn to dance when young and accustom themselves to rhythmic movements without the aid of music. Furthermore, the deaf are natural imitators. They are quick of vision and almost instinctively follow the motions observed in others. Some have learned to keep time in dancing by watching the beat of a baton.

While the vibration of drums and large brass instruments may be felt by some if near by, the voices are not perceptible further away. Accordingly an orchestra or music of any description is largely an ornament for the eye. The only useful member of an orchestra for a deaf mute dance would be the leader with his rhythmic baton, and even he would not be necessary.

Loyal British Waiters Arm Against Invaders

LCNDON, March 21.—The supremacy of the alien waiter is threatened by a new institution entitled the Loyal British Waiters' Society, which is making a determined attempt to depose the foreigners and re-instate the British waiter.

"In London alone as many as 120,000 waiters are employed," said Sir William Sergeant, in a recent interview. "They are better trained as waiters. They are cheaper, and they find that it is more profitable to seek work here than in their own country."

"When we hear of the daily increase in the unemployed the great number of foreigners employed in this capacity over here is deplorable. The object of the society is to provide temporary or permanent employment for British-born waiters, who are reliable and loyal, and whom the society can recommend with confidence to employers."

Discover Tombstones Hidden in Basement

NEW YORK, March 21.—Laborers employed in clearing out a room in the basement of Borough Hall, Brooklyn, came across a number of old headstones that probably have rested in the building for years. Nobody connected with the building knows when they were placed there.

A gang of men were fixing up the room, preparatory to storing records there, when one of them discovered a niche in the wall. In it were a half dozen slabs of red stone laid face to face. Only two of the stones were decipherable. Both bore the date 1809. One stone was in perfect condition. It read,

Fair Oaks Lodge of Rebekahs Issue Invitations for Dance

ALAMEDA, March 21.—Elaborate plans are being made for the dance of Fair Oaks Rebekah Lodge, L. O. O., to be given Wednesday evening, March 20, in Encinal Hall.

One hundred and fifty invitations have been issued, and a gay assembly of Rebeleahs and their friends from the bay cities will while away the hours with waltzes and two-steps. Visitors from the other lodges around the bay have been invited to the function, which will be one of the largest given by Fair Oaks for several years.

As all of the members of the organization are working the interests of the affiliated social and financial success is anticipated.

Mrs. Edwina Meyers, Mrs. M. Decker, Harry Richardson, George Kuhn and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wheeler, Wheeler is noble grand of the lodge and one of the most earnest workers for the blind.

An excellent orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion, and the gathering will while away the hours with waltzes and two-steps. Visitors from the other lodges around the bay have been invited to the function, which will be one of the largest given by Fair Oaks for several years.

G. A. R. Encampment in Oakland Will Be Memorable

SOME OF THOSE HARD AT WORK MAKING READY FOR THE OAKLAND ENCAPMENT OF THE WAR VETERANS.

TORPEDO FLOTILLA MAY COME HERE

Army and Navy Participate in Parade That Will Make History.

The executive committee of the forty-third encampment of the Department of California and Nevada is putting forth every effort to make this one of the greatest weeks in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic of the West.

The endeavor is to hold a grand reunion of the veterans and affiliated organizations, and the Oakland committee is arranging a program of events and amusements that, when complete, will serve as lure to bring here a great throng of the old soldiers and their friends.

Chairman William R. Bair is making an effort to interest the naval authorities in sending the torpedo flotilla from the Oakland harbor to participate in the events of encampment week and it will be urged upon them that sending down to the estuary of several of the historic battle craft that are now peacefully anchored at Mare Island navy yard.

THE PARADE.

The military parade will be notable, as both the army and navy departments have promised cooperation in sending detachments from both arms of the service.

"We are so situated here," said Colonel Blair of the executive committee, at the headquarters in the St. Mark Hotel, this morning, "that we command attractions not possible in any other city with in the boundaries of the department. Oakland is a big city of itself and with San Francisco almost within street car rider we cannot be excelled in offering every advantage in the way of recreation and amusement. I urged upon every organization to make one of the greatest weeks in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic of the West.

GENERAL MEETING.

A meeting of the general committee is called for Wednesday night at the Merchants' Exchange, where matters of importance will be brought up for discussion.

A preliminary circular has been issued by the executive committee and is being sent out to the various cities in Nevada and California. It is to be followed by another giving the progress which has been made in the way of providing entertainment and other matters of interest to the veterans and their friends. It is proposed to maintain a bulletin service to arouse interest in the forthcoming encampment and campfire rally.

The circular follows:

"The Forty-fifth Encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, Department of California and Nevada, convenes at Oakland April 19 and continues until the 23d. It is the intention to make this one of the most notable encampments ever held in California. Among the important features will be a military parade, including detachments of United States cavalry, infantry and artillery from the Presidio, San Francisco. General Barry, commanding the Department of California, U. S. Army, has been most generous in meeting the requests of the local executive committee and has promised to do all in his power to make that feature of the encampment a success.

A luncheon is to be given by the citizens of Alameda in one of the handsome parks for which that city is noted and the good people of Berkeley are arranging an affair to be given in the Greek Theater. In addition, children will take part. It is the desire of the committee in charge to make the campfire event one of unusual interest.

Rates of one and one-third fares have been secured from all of the railroads entering Oakland. Tickets on sale from the 9th to the 19th, good for return until the 21st, and for southern points from Bakersfield and Santa Barbara, including those cities, these tickets will be good until midnight of May 3d. By these connections ample time will be given to people to visit the state to visit San Francisco and Berkeley with children in the State University will also be afforded an opportunity to visit them, as these reduced rates are good for citizens as well as Grand Army people.

ANSWER DEMANDS WITH DISCHARGE

Bethlehem Steel Works Let Out 20 Laborers Who Demand Increase.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 21.—The strike at the Bethlehem Steel Works has taken a new phase. A score of the open hearth workers in the Sacon plant, who demanded an increase from six to seven tons of iron and steel drawn, and gave the company until tomorrow to grant the request, have been given their wages and a blue card which indicated that they have been discharged. They were among the men who returned to work since February 28.

The strike leaders claim today that 200 men have quit work in the Sacon plant and joined the strikers, and that 400 more in the same plant will be sent home before night. The labor organizers claim that the crucible department is tied up.

Battleship Louisiana Exceeds All Records

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The battleship Louisiana exceeded all her previous performances yesterday in a test of speed in Cuban waters, where the vessels of the Asiatic fleet are engaged in maneuvering. Admiral Schroeder, commander of the fleet, in his report to the Navy Department, said the Louisiana maintained an average speed of 16.942 knots an hour in a four-hour full-power trial under forced draft. This was accomplished with about 1000 tons greater displacement than the ship on her contractor's trial.

When the fleet entered Guanabara bay several weeks ago, the men were unable to swim. As a result of instructions 3226 of these have learned

WEST OAKLAND CLUB WILL STAGE CLASSY FIGHT PROGRAM

Downpour of Rain Causes Ball Games to Be Postponed in the Bay Cities

THOMPSON AND NORVAL
PROMISE WHIRLWIND GOClever Boxer With Dangerous Punch
Should Make Able Opponent for Rough-House "Cyclone"

By EDDIE SMITH.

THE switch made in the management of the boxing contests of the West Oakland Club seems to have done some good, for the new matchmaker has signed a card for this month which so far outclasses those that have been offered during the past four or five months that there is no comparison. The main event, which will bring together Cyclone Johnnie Thompson and Charles Norval, should prove a very interesting affair, in which a very clever boxer will try to hold off and outpoint a rough, hard fighting man who will be at his best when the going is fast and furious.

For the first time the people of this section of the State are to see Thompson at his best in the contest of Wednesday night, for it is the first time that he has had a chance to meet any one at catch weights, and when boxing with this allowance of weight he is a 25 per cent better fighter than he is when pulled down by having him and drying out. In the last contest Thompson had here, the Tommy McCarthy affair, he was compelled to come down to 134 pounds on a six days' notice, and when he entered the ring he had left much of his dash and strength at the training quarters.

Given Thompson a month to train and he can make the lightweight limit, even though it is torture to him, but to reduce as fast as he did for the McCarthy fight has always meant a setback for him.

PROMISES FAST MILL.

For the battle of Wednesday he has nothing like that worry him and unless I am greatly mistaken in the follow the fans will be treated to an exhibition of whirling scrapping that will set them on edge. This will especially follow if Norval, who is a mightier boxer, succeeds in outpointing the former for the first few rounds. Norval is not a sucker by any means and his clean-cut knock out of Jack Clifford when that fighter tried to rush him off his feet is a warning to the pugs that it will not pay to take too much liberty with the punching ability of Mr. Charles Norval.

In the special event the fans of Oakland are to get a chance to see one of their old favorites in action. Louie Long is to meet Frank Smith in this bout. Long was one of the most popular boys that appeared here a few years ago and has been very successful in his contests that he has had while away from home. To prove to the fans that he is still the invincible fighter that he was when he was appearing here he has consented to take a chance at Smith in a six-round battle. Six rounds are not much to the liking of Long who should have an easier date, but he feels sure he will be able to best Smith, whom he claims is inferior to the men he has been boxing in the North. The program of preliminaries has the appearance of good ones and the chances are that the West Oakland Club will once again handle a big crowd next Wednesday night.

FIGHT PRICES LOVINGLY

"Listening to the Call of the Fighting Fan" is the latest song that Jack Gleason and Tex Rickard are to publish. The song will come in the shape of tickets to the scrap at from $5 to $50 instead of $10 to $100 schedule that the promoters are expected to charge. From the first announcement of the former prices the fight fans have been kicking up a fuss in the barber shops at the liquor counter and on the streets, and they have discussed the advisability of high prices and not a few of them announced their intention of reading the bulletins boards of the scrap rather than the high prices. The fact that Gleason and Rickard have listened to the call, the fans show that they are anxious to please and that everything is to be done that is possible to make the big contest a success. The reducing of the prices is the first of the moves in this direction and it was a very good one.

Jack Gleason will leave this morning in company with Sam Berger for the East, and while there he will not only attend to the matters of the big contest, but will also be at the ringside of the Ketchel-Klaus contest at Pittsburgh and will try to show Ketchel a victory. It would pay him to come here to take a chance with Billy Papke at the latter part of June. While Jack is in the East, he will look after the special trains that are to come to the coast and will also make arrangements with Johnson as to the time that he will arrive here.

BARRY AND BURNS.

Jim Barry and Jack Burns, who are to meet in the ring of Louis Blot's club on the 29th of this month, are both reported in great condition and ready for the fight of their lives.

In the "Gunboat" Smith battle this month Barry got tired several times and had to stop for a rest. That experience taught him the lesson of poor condition and he has turned down to systematic training for the Burns battle. It is well that he has, for he will not be able to knock Burns out as easily as he did.

Daniel M. Chung is another athletic candidate at Yale. He is one of the best rowers in the freshman crew squad. His father, a member of the Chinese legation at Washington, was in the class of '88 at Yale.

CHINESE PROMISING CANDIDATE FOR YALE FRESHMAN BALL NINE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 21.—Min Yin Chung of Honolulu is a promising candidate for the Yale freshman ball team. The Chinese has surprised the coaches with his ability to handle the bat. He has no apparent difficulty in hitting the best pitchers in the squad and his hits are generally hot liners which look like the work of an expert.

FANS BRAVE RAIN.

Quite number of the faithful journeyed to Recreation park in San Francisco yesterday afternoon and sat out the rain for a considerable portion of an hour, hoping against hope that the Seals and the White Sox would persuade themselves that they were impervious to the damp, and engage in a frolic among the paddles, but it was not to be, and the Panthers will not make another appearance until Tuesday afternoon, when weather permitting, they will line up against the Santa Clara collegians at San Jose. On Wednesday next they are slated to meet the Paonia team of St. Mary's College in this city.

SOX NO. 1 LOSE.

By the score of 7 to 6 the Fresno Tigers nixed out a victory yesterday over the Bakersfield Drills. With the score of 2 to 1, their inability to negotiate the delivery of Tamm and Nagle being principally responsible for their downfall.

OFFICERS STAND ON EQUAL FOOTING

URGES NOISELESS FOURTH OF JULY

Insignia of the Rank Make the Honors Even Between War Captains.

WASHINGTON. March 21.—That the officer of the National Guard is entitled to the same consideration as the wearer of shoulder straps in the regular army is the decision of the Adjutant General of Utah. He has sent out a circular letter pointing out that the insignia or rank of commissioned officers of the United States is a prime factor guarantee that the wearer is not only an officer but that he is also a scholar and a gentleman and there are few places where it is not actually required to wear the insignia. In the long run, however, he must, by his personality, make the guarantee good. Under existing military social and business law, an officer of the National Guard stands exactly on the same footing unless he shows that he is not entitled to it.

Says the Adjutant General:

"The wearing of decorations well and endeavor is hardly sufficient to give a man the standing as a man of honor and a gentleman that the insignia of a commissioned officer guarantees as long as their wearer makes good."

Aeroplane Suited For Lover's Flight

NEW YORK. March 21.—An aeroplane easily reduce pace to the extent of a pound a day. Side Y. M. C. A. says the men who took the course of study in aeronautics offered by the association for the first time last year. During their course the men were practicing with model aeroplanes. With the beginning of what they term the season of 1910, they resolved to build a full-sized high power aeroplane. It will be complete within a month.

Detective to Speak
On Bertillon System

"The Bertillon System of Identification will be the subject of an address to be given before the Alameda County Moot Court Tuesday evening by Harry Caldwell of the bureau of identification of the Oakland police force at the headquarters of the moot court. Besides telling of the value of the system as a means of identifying prisoners, Caldwell will speak of its uses in handling legal documents, such as the thumb prints on checks to avoid forgery."

The latter device, installed under the direction of Caldwell in an Oakland bank, is used in the Chinese department of that institution with great success. Other methods of protecting legal documents will be spoken of by the identification expert.

Gotham Policemen
Ride on Pie Wagons

NEW YORK. March 21.—A long string of delivery wagons, piled high with bread and pastry, started out early this morning from the factory of the Consumers' Baking Company here with a policeman seated at the tailboard of each. This unusual precaution was taken, not because of a strike, but because several times in the last few weeks somebody has thrown kerosene or turpentine into the wagons, ruining many dollars worth of bread. The discharged employees are believed to be responsible.

Sec. 1097. No person's name must be entered by the Clerk unless:

1. Upon the production and filing of a certified copy of the judgment of the Superior Court directing such entry to be made.

2. If a naturalized citizen, upon the production of his certificate of naturalization, which certificate must be issued within three days prior to the preceding election, or upon his affidavit that he is not or out of his possession, which affidavit must state the place of his nativity, and the date of his naturalization, together with his affidavit that he has resided in the United States for five years, and in this State for one year next preceding the time of application, and that he is not a citizen of another country at the next preceding election.

3. If a naturalized citizen, upon the production of his certificate of naturalization, which certificate shall be prima facie evidence of his naturalization. In the event that such naturalized citizen was naturalized in the county of residence, in which he is about to register, or in the event that he was previously registered within the preceding eight years within the county of residence, and his certificate of naturalization has not been revoked, he shall not be required to produce his certificate of naturalization, nor to make such affidavit as is required in this case.

4. If born in a foreign country, upon his affidavit that he became a citizen of the United States by virtue of the naturalization of his father while he was residing in the United States, and under the age of twenty-one years, and that he is or would be an elector of the county at the next ensuing election.

5. In all other cases upon the affidavit of the party that he or will be an elector at the next preceding election. Such affidavit must be made before the County Clerk or officer charged with the registration of voters, or their deputy, or before a judge, justice of the peace, or any court of record, or notary public, or any foreign country, before any minister, consular agent, or vice-consular agent of the United States, and make and subscribe an affidavit as to his residence specifying in what ward or precinct he claims residence, that he will be necessary to him to vote at the next preceding election, he may appear before any judge, justice of the peace, or any court of record, or notary public, or any foreign country, before any minister, consular agent, or vice-consular agent of the United States, and make and subscribe an affidavit as to his residence specifying in what ward or precinct he claims residence, that he will be necessary to him to vote at the next preceding election.

Market is Heavy on Opening Board

MARKET IS HEAVY ON OPENING BOARD

FEAR FOR RESULT OF AMERICAN TOBACCO DECISION IS FELT LATER.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The prevailing tone of the opening stock market to day was heavy, although there were gains in a few stocks, notably the Chesapeake and Ohio rose 1 1/2 and Norfolk and Western 1 1/2. Amalgamated Copper declined 5%. The dealings were exceedingly active.

Last week's buying of the soft coal stocks was resumed on a large scale, especially in Norfolk and Western, which advanced 23%. Other stocks also developed strength and the opening losses were all taken off. Pacific and Reading were the strongest of the recognized leaders, gaining a point each. Pittsburgh, C. C. and St. Louis, Republic preferred also were pushed up a point. Standard oil and St. Paul later cast it a point and caused some sympathetic weakness elsewhere. Prices recovered later.

DECISION FELT.

Dealing in stocks ran down near the point of idleness as the hour approached to the assembly of the Supreme court in the Supreme Court House in Washington, D. C. The American Tobacco decision would be handed down during trading operations.

Fears were expressed that Western railroad freight men would strike. The return of the subscriptions to New York City has been so slow that the strength of the soft coal carriers seemed to be due to hope of a labor adjustment with the coal miners. The tone was strong at noon.

Bonds were heavy. New York City bond issues sold off to low record figures, making a bad impression for the new issue. The new 4½'s (when issued), sold down to 10 1/2%. The outside market, the lowest price yet quoted.

On the announcement that no Supreme Court decision would give rights in the American Tobacco case, the market became stronger and with the metal stocks in chief demand. Subsequently the market showed off its best quiet. New York Central, United States Steel, Standard Oil, and America, Smelting rose. Union Pacific and Kansas City and Michigan certificates 2. 10½%. Indiana and Michigan gained 2. 10½% until speculation became dull. American Mining preferred gained 3% and American Sugar 1%.

The market closed rather easily, with little interest in the financial districts, the reports in the newsicker showing the latest leadings. Prices moved up a trifle in the later dealing, but the selling pressure was light.

Federal Mining preferred fell 10¢.

A merchant would not think a woman very wise if she purchased a yard less silk for a gown than she did if it were very fine silk. Nor is the merchant wise to purchase a column less advertising space than he needs, even if it is very fine advertising space and costly.

Fires Play Less Havoc with Woods

Forestry Department Patrol Service Averts Much Damage.

Fire played less havoc in the woodlands of the national forest states last year than it did in 1908, although the number of fires was 410 greater. The Department of Agriculture has just completed statistics. The protective value of the work of the department is shown in that (1) almost 80 per cent of the fires were extinguished before as much as five acres had been damaged; (2) less than one and one-half acres to the square mile of national forest land was burned over; (3) and the amount of damage done to the burned-over area averaged but 12.6 per acre.

For the twelve months ended December 31 last, there were 3138 fires on the forests, 1180 caused by locomotives, 431 by campers, 294 by lightning, 181 by brush burning, 97 by incendiaries, 38 by sawmills and donkey engines, 163 by miscellaneous and 758 by unknown agencies. The area burned over was in round figures, 360,000 acres, of which about 62,000 were private lands. In national forests, 100,000 acres were destroyed in 1908. Some 200,000 board feet of timber was consumed, of which 35,000,000 feet was privately owned, as against 230,000,000 in the previous year. The loss in value of timber destroyed was less than $300,000, of which close to $50,000 was privately owned. The loss of the year before was about $450,000. Damage done to reproduction and forage shows a remarkable decrease, less than $100,000 being the record for 1909 and over $700,000 for that of 1908.

IDAHOT HARD HIT.

The largest number of fires occurred in Idaho—921, but the great increase over 1908 in that state—namely, 573—is entirely attributable to fires in the Coeur d'Alene, which were extinguished without material damage. Locomotive sparks were accountable for 611 of the blazes in this forest last year. The explanation of the increase in the total for all forests is to be found in this Coeur d'Alene increase.

The report of the forester for 1909 said of the first half of 1908: "That year, the result of prolonged drought during the summer and fall, and of disastrous forest fires throughout the country. The national forests suffered relatively little. * * * About 232,191,000 board feet of timber of .06 per cent of the stand, was destroyed. * * * A total of 2728 fires was reported, of which 2089 were small fires confined as a rule to an area of five acres or less. The cost of fire fighting, exclusive of the salaries of forest officers, was $73,828.33. This sum, added to the proportion of the total salaries of rangers and guards, probably chargeable to parks and fire fighting, was less than one-twentieth of one per cent of the cost of the timber protection, estimated at an average of stumpage value of $2 per thousand."

According to the report, the consolidation will be accomplished April 15. At that time, it is stated, Guy Culhot, the active head of the Oregon Electric, will return and become president of the Portland Gas Company. Andrew Stewart, representative of the Electric Bond and Share Company and the American Power and Gas Company, Talbot states, however, that he has not resigned from the management of the Oregon Electric and has not been asked to do so. John F. Stevens, it is asserted, will become the head of the combination resulting from the consolidation of the electric railways.

NORTHERN ROADS TO CONSOLIDATE SCHOOLS NEEDED MORE THAN PARKS

United Railways Company to Take Over Oregon Electric, Is Announcement.

PORTLAND, March 21.—That an announcement will probably be made during the present week of the consolidation of the Oregon Electric Railroad and the United Railways Companies is intimated in an unofficial statement made by Judge C. H. Corey, local counsel of the Hill railroads.

The Oregon Electric has an electric interurban line running south from this city to Salem, with laterals to Forest Grove and other points, while the United Railways has a valuable line running through the country from north to south and contemplates an electric line to the Pacific Ocean. It has lately become known that recent purchases of the United Railways Companies were represented by the Hill railroads.

According to the report, the consolidation will be accomplished April 15. At that time, it is stated, Guy Culhot, the active head of the Oregon Electric, will return and become president of the Portland Gas Company. Andrew Stewart, representative of the Electric Bond and Share Company and the American Power and Gas Company, Talbot states, however, that he has not resigned from the management of the Oregon Electric and has not been asked to do so. John F. Stevens, it is asserted, will become the head of the combination resulting from the consolidation of the electric railroads.

Clever Ventriloquist Heads Classy Bill at Bell Theater

ALF RIPON and McPHERSON, the "komik skot," featured at the Bell Theater this week.

Alfred Ripon, an original Scotch ventriloquist, who heads the new bill at the Bell Theater, this week, is an able exponent of his art. His clever cross talk with the "Wee Jock" together with the vocal selection of the laddie, earn him an appropriate top line position. The "Wee Jock," otherwise known as McPherson, the "Komik Skot," gets off a number of stunts that are pleasing and amusing. Whether he is trying to imitate Harry Lauder is a question for McPherson to answer, which he could probably do if found with his head intact and Ripon dead. By the act opens with Ripon dressed in Highland attire. It is exceedingly well rendered and despite its pathos, the sketch is heartily amusing and these two capable performers have found vehicle that is indeed worthy of their talent.

Les Theodore, a strong feature of the bill, are unequalled acrobats. Personally they are both splendid physical specimens. Their act is characterized by a neatness and grace that is good to see, while at the same time they dress it to the queen's taste. Their work throughout is away above the average and has planted them solidly among the leaders in this art.

Hathaway & Seigel do a dancing act that stirs the audience. Miss Seigel does an imitation stunt of Eva Tanguay which gets off with good shape, for although Miss Tanguay has never appeared in Oakland, one is desirous of seeing her after so interesting an imitation. Hathaway is one of the best of dancers. He gets off some whirlwind steps and altogether creates a favorable comment.

German comedians are always pleasant, but Collins and Brown are entitled to the palm for humorous sallies in the hedge-podge of fun they have termed "A Marathon Foot Race." They are clever delineators of character types and pass out a line of chatter that is funny enough to suit those who are most inclined to criticize. Their travesty of grand opera at the close is a scream and brought them vociferous recalls which fatigue from the great exertion they put into their act prevents them from accepting. Pero & Wilson, comedians, are also in the bill with a little malice included in which is a little juggling, some vocalizing and barrel jumping by Pero that is great. The best picture seen at the Bell in a long time is on this week. Its title, "Newly Weds," perhaps will give one an idea of the humorous subject matter.

Train Breaks Record To Beat the Stork

GREENWICH, Conn., March 21.—A record by a special train—New York to Greenwich—yesterday preceded the arrival in the world of a grand nephew to Andrew Carnegie.

George Lauder, Jr., a nephew of the ironmaster, is the father of the latest candidate for a share in the Carnegie millions.

The one-car special, which broke all speed records between New York and Greenwich, carried two New York doctors.

FEAST OF PALMS BEARS IN PASSION

Sunday Services Inaugurates Momentous Week of the Church.

Impressive ceremonies marked the observance of Palm Sunday, which was celebrated yesterday in all the churches throughout this city, where the devotions were of a high spiritual order. In all the catholic churches and solemn high mass was celebrated and in each church palms, emblematic of the entrance of Christ into Jerusalem on the Sunday preceding his crucifixion took place were distributed. The sermons upon that occasion touched upon the life and passion of Christ.

Special Holy Week services will be held in all the Catholic churches, commencing Wednesday evening. With a sermon and benediction the services will open. Masses will be given every morning and services will be held every evening of the remaining days of the week—Holy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Saturday. Music will be rendered at all the services.

UNION SERVICES.

Announcement services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Fourth and Franklin streets during the entire week. The services will begin tonight and they will be conducted by the ministers representing the different churches. First Methodist Episcopal, First Baptist, First Christian, First Presbyterian and the First Congregational churches.

Under the direction of Alexander T. Stewart, Widor's mass was given last evening before a large concourse of people, who assembled in the auditorium of the First Congregational Church, Twelfth and Clay streets. Widor's composition has rarely been heard outside of the church of St. Sulpice in Paris, where Widor is organist and composer. This was an appropriate introduction to the special ceremonies which will be held during Holy Week.

"The Seven Last Words of Christ," an oratorio written by Du Bois, will be rendered on Good Friday in the Trinity Episcopal Church. Rev. W. R. Hodges will preach the sermon at 7:45 on that occasion.

Agonies Undergone By Tortured Sponge

NEW YORK, March 21.—A new humane society, which gets the older organizations one better in its crusade, has just been organized here. Its aim is a campaign against the use of sponges. The sponge, according to a circular letter sent out by the new society, is an animal that lives very much alive when fished up from the depths of the sea and suffers inexpressible tortures before death, which is accomplished by allowing him to lie on the deck of a ship in the burning sun until he expires.

Celluloid Crystals For Watch Faces

NEW YORK, March 21.—Celluloid crystals have appealed to the Maiden Lane jewelry district. The chief advantage is that they will not break like those of glass. The celluloid crystals are not favored by dealers in the higher grades of watches, but are being placed on many of the cheaper timepieces.
